An 'Ironic Twist'

Redevelopment Agency Head

Tony Giammona not only became Daly City's mayor last night, but head of that city's redevelopment agency as well. This appointment held an ironic twist. Giammona in the past voted against the redevelopment project area. "Because of this fact, Councilman Paul Hupf said he could not in good conscience vote for Giammona to head the agency,"

Giammona, however, explained that although he voted against it, the majority vote was 4-1. "I do feel that when the majority votes 4-1, I am in the minority and will try to work in the framework," said Giammona. "Then I will withdraw my abstention," said Hupf. Giammona's appointment to head the agency was made with the exception of Hupf's hesitation in the same swift manner and on the same vote he was named mayor. Councilman McRobert Stewart cast the lone dissenting vote. Councilman Victor Kyriakis, who was named vice mayor, also was just as methodically named vice chairman of the redevelopment agency. That vote was unanimous. Hupf was named finance chairman of the agency.

Lumley Pacifica Mayor

Junior Member Selected on 3-2 Vote

Councilman Aubrey Lumley was appointed mayor of Pacifica by a 3-2 vote Monday night. Don Halverson was appointed vice mayor by a 3-0 vote of the Pacifica City Council. Lumley was first elected to the city council only a year ago, while Halverson was appointed last November to fill the vacancy left by resignation of Nick Gust. The two are thus the newest city council members. Numerous rumors were circulating during the past week that the council was bitterly split over the mayoralty, with only Halverson being considered out of the running. However, the ramifications of the split were not shown in last night's meeting, with the audience being able only to guess at the details of the behind-the-scenes conflict. The meeting began with Stan Farber, who had been vice mayor for the past year, offering a motion to shift the council's election of mayor from the end of the meeting to the beginning of the meeting. Councilman Harland Minshew seconded the motion, which was defeated by the "nay" votes of the other three candidates. When Mayor Grace McCarthy called for nominations, only Halverson responded. He prefaced his nomination by saying that "unfortunately, there is only one position for mayor." He nominated Lumley. Mrs. McCarthy seconded his nomination. With no other nominations offered, Halverson moved to close nominations, and there was a call for a roll call vote. Mrs. McCarthy then asked for nominations for vice mayor, and Farber protested that there can be no new motions while the previous motion had not been voted upon. After a brief argument, City Attorney John Sherman upheld Farber on the procedure. In the roll-call that followed, only Farber and Minshew voted "no." Then, Lumley moved that Halverson be the new vice mayor. This was seconded by Mrs. McCarthy, followed by a unanimous roll-call. Mrs. McCarthy noted that she had made no speech upon her initial election as mayor and would make no speech now. "My main objective has been to improve Pacifica," she declared, and passed her well-worn gavel to Lumley, switching seats with him. Lumley congratulated Mrs. McCarthy "on a successful term of office," and declared the meeting adjourned. As he packed his papers to leave, he remarked to well-wishers that "my knees are shaking." He assured individual members of the audience who came up to him that they can telephone him any time, even though he commutes out of Pacifica to work. He told them that he has an answering service on his home phone, and endeavors to return all calls as quickly as possible. He expected it to be a double evening of triumph for the Lumley family, since his father was expected to be elected mayor of Porterville. Rumors had it that possibly four members of the city council had hoped for the support needed to win the mayoralty. According to some of the talk around city hall, and among friends and supporters of various councilmen Mrs. McCarthy hoped to follow the precedent of her predecessor, Nick Gust, and serve three consecutive terms. Stan Farber felt that his having served as vice mayor put him in a natural succession for mayor, besides being the sole senior councilman who had never held the post. Minshew, who had served just one year, in 1966-67, felt that it had been his turn for the mayor's post for a number of years.

Lycett Steps Down, Giammona Becomes New Mayor in D.C.

By Bob Peterson

Tony Giammona was named mayor of Daly City Monday night, on a 4-1 vote. Former Mayor Bud Lycett basked in the praises of residents proclaiming a job well done. And McRobert Stewart was one disappointed councilman. He sought, and at one point expected, the mayorship. An executive session was held last week, at which time the mayorship was reportedly discussed. Regardless, as soon as nominations were called, Councilman Victor Kyriakis made an eloquent motion placing Giammona's name in nomination. It was quickly seconded by Lycett, who immediately called for nominations to be closed. On the vote, Stewart looked straight ahead, expressionless, and spoke an audible "no." Councilman Paul Hupf sat stoically staring before him, while voicing approval. Kyriakis said he envied anyone who took over the job as mayor of Daly City. But, on the other hand, he didn't envy Giammona having to follow in Lycett's footsteps. "He is probably the best mayor Daly City has ever had," said Kyriakis of Lycett. It was the beginning of seemingly endless tributes to the man who was mayor of the county's second largest city for more than six years. "That in itself is a record. 'I feel real proud,'" said Giammona, who agreed that Lycett was Daly City's best mayor. "He's going to be pretty hard to follow. But with support from him, and the rest of the council, it will be a smooth year. You're just moving over for a little while," he said to Lycett. That aspect of protocol being completed, an equally swift maneuver placed Kyriakis in the mayor pro tem seat. The nomination was made by Hupf, and seconded by (now mayor) Giammona. This vote was unanimous. In addition, Hupf went to the finance committee replacing Giammona there, and Lycett was named to the city's sanitation board. After the session, Stewart was reluctant to discuss his rise and fall. "I don't want to sound like sour grapes," he said. Then he continued. "Involvement is the key in politics," he said. "I think it's being neglected in our new mayor. If you are going to sit in the top chair you must have both feet on the ground and be involved all the way." "Suddenly the top guy moves out and someone sitting on the sidelines moves up and everything is supposed to be a bed of roses. Performance is the key. Without it, the people come up short. I think there are a lot of people in town who are disappointed," said Stewart. He noted that he's been fighting for rotation of the mayorship for the past three years. He said also he's not going to lessen his activities, because of this setback. "I'm elected by the people of Daly City, and I'll always work for them. That's my job. That's what I'm elected for." The history behind the infighting that caused Giammona to decide to seek the mayorship remains vague. Most of the jostling was going on behind the scenes and in privileged executive sessions. Giammona is in the senior position on the council, next to Lycett, however. But in the joys and sorrow of

A NEW ROLE — Making it "perfectly clear" to one of his constituents, Daly City Mayor Tony Giammona Monday night embarked on a long, and by tradition and necessity, active role; that of representing the county's second largest city in ribbon-cuttings, grand openings, special events and all other ceremonies a mayor is asked to perform. Not to mention the problems he is asked to solve, simply because he is the mayor. (Brooke photo)

Climaxing 6 Years Service

REWARDED — Judging from the many verbal tributes to Daly City Councilman Bud Lycett on his six-plus years as mayor, he deserves a reward. So he collects it. The "former mayor" retains the knack that made his name a household word, unidentified girl (right photo) is a potential voter, you know. (Brooke Photos)

Some Crimes Drop, Others Gain in SSF

Crimes against property dropped almost 10 per cent in South San Francisco during 1972. South San Francisco Police Chief Salvatore V. Rosano announced this week in his annual report. Rosano credited the reduction in burglaries, grand thefts and auto thefts to efforts of his uniform division and the burglary prevention program. There was some bad news, too, however. Crimes against persons rose during the year. Rapes almost doubled, from eight in 1971 to 14 in 1972. However, Rosano stressed, all 14 rape cases have been closed by arrest, as well as the year's three homicides. Altogether, 41 felony sex crimes were reported in 1972 — an increase of 242 per cent. On the other hand, South San Francisco experienced no traffic deaths during 1972. Rosano credited this triumph to the combined efforts of the city's patrol section, traffic section and pedestrian-bicycle safety coordinator. There were five deaths in 1971. In addition, injury accidents were reduced from 234 to 221 as well as the number of persons injured from 295 to 279. The total of property damage accidents increased slightly from 989 to 1,146. Rosano noted, but the department's new Accident Reduction team, which began in October, has already made some inroads into this area. Most dangerous time of the day continued to be 4 to 5 p.m., with 137 accidents during 1972, followed by 5 to 6 p.m., when 104 wrecks took place. Calmest period for accidents has been lunchtime. Rosano noted various classes being given by policemen during the year. Driver's educational classes are given at request of the schools. Monthly training classes are being given to violators of bicycle and pedestrian traffic laws. Five officers have been assigned to three schools each to maintain liaison with the School Safety Patrols. Bicycle accidents decreased from 1971 to 1972, with 20 injury accidents last year as against 23 the year before. There were no fatalities in either year. Pedestrian accidents decreased from 45 to 23 injuries, with no fatalities in either year. The most critical intersection in 1972 was El Camino Real and Chestnut, with 20 collisions. Tied for second place, with 15 accidents apiece, were El Camino Real and Spruce, South Airport and Wondercolor, and Westborough and Junipero Serra boulevards. The intersection of Airport and Grand produced a dozen wrecks. The number of drunk driving arrests rose from 196 to 211. Those drunk in or about a vehicle rose from 41 to 49. At least 23 persons who appeared unfit to drive were warned and sent home by cab or other "responsible means."

S.F. Airport Contracts Set

The San Francisco International Airport Commission awarded two environmental protection and improvement contracts Monday.

RECORDS AWAY — San Mateo County Clerk-Recorder Marvina Church tosses in some of the half-million pages of old Superior Court records which were buried Monday at the South County Refuse Disposal District's Marsh Road dump site in Menlo Park. Destruction of the old records, all of which have been microfilmed, was authorized by the Board of Supervisors in order to make room in Church's office for the continuing accumulation of new records. Watching his boss start the work which was completed by a bulldozer is Martin Kasworm, assistant county recorder. (Times Photo)

Mother of Handicapped Sues

A South San Francisco woman with two educationally handicapped children has filed a suit against the State Board of Education because they can't get into special classes.

The suit filed Monday in Superior Court seeks an injunction against the State Board of Education, San Mateo County and the South San Francisco Unified School District, from limiting enrollment in educationally handicapped programs to 2 per cent of the students in each district.

The mother contends that her two children, both handicapped, have been excluded from admission to programs operated by the school district for educationally handicapped children, solely because of the arbitrary limits set by law.

The suit, a "class action" filed on behalf of the unidentified woman, is being handled by Attorney Suzanne Martinez of the Youth Law Center of the San Francisco Legal Aid Society.

The action refers to a survey released last year by the San Mateo County P-TA indicating that some 800 children in San Mateo County alone have been identified by their school districts as eligible for educationally handicapped programs but have been placed upon waiting lists for admission because of the 2 per cent limitation.

Miss Martinez pointed out that these children are generally very bright children who simply need special help to overcome their handicaps. The special education program offered by the school district can, and does, help them learn to compensate for their handicaps.

M. A. Yolles, Spanish Motif Chosen for Millbrae Bank Developer, Fatally Hurt

Merton A. Yolles, 45, prominent Hillsborough resident and owner of the Yolles Development Company, died at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City Sunday from injuries suffered when he was struck by a car in Colma on Saturday.

According to the San Mateo County Coroner's Office, he had parked his car on Mission Boulevard in Colma and began walking across the street. He reached the center divider and, as he stepped into the opposite lane, he was struck by a car driven by Donald P. Andreacchi, 500 Clark Street, Colma.

The coroner's office said there was no negligence involved since there was no pedestrian crosswalk in the area.

Yolles suffered head injuries and multiple injuries to his left shoulder and to both legs. He succumbed the next day.

Yolles' office was at 1611 Borel Place in San Mateo. He lived at 880 Longview Road in Hillsborough. He is survived by his widow, Marilyn, and four children, Nancy, Cindy, Peter and Jonathan.

His firm specialized in apartment complexes; one of his first projects was "2 Clark Drive" in San Mateo. He was due to start construction on a 53-unit condominium on Scenic Way in San Mateo, a model of which is on display in the San Mateo Wells-Fargo Bank.

His widow said today that it is the intention of the firm to carry through with the project.

He was born in Toronto, and was graduated from University of Toronto Business School with a degree in business administration.

Millbrae's new Hibernia Bank will follow a proposed "Spanish" theme, although the bank's architects and directors much prefer a design the city's architectural review committee considers more imaginative and creative.

Planning commissioners last night agreed they favored the pseudo-Spanish design over either of two variations of the bank's favored plan.

Commission Chairman Kenneth Rives admitted that the board's "architectural advisory" committee recommended the design desired by the bank.

He commented that "this is one of those times when planning commissioners held a completely opposite view than the architects who volunteer to advise them."

After suggesting several changes in the "Spanish" design building the bank proposes to build at Broadway and Hillcrest, planning commissioners held the matter over for two weeks to allow the changes to be made.

Voting 3-0, with one member absent and another abstaining, the commissioners made their feelings clear to the bank's representatives.

"I feel this fits in much better than either of the two other designs," said Commissioner Leslie Turner.

"My feeling is that I would rather go with this, because the others present too much concrete," said Commissioner Robert Treseler.

"I also have a preference for this," said Chairman Rives.

John Hosack, representing the bank's law firm, said Hibernia had submitted the three designs because they had been given the impression in earlier meetings that planning commissioners favored a Spanish theme and opposed the bankers' idea of a windowless brick building with sculptured walls.

George Dolin, representing Hibernia's architectural firm, said the bank could live with the so-called Spanish theme, though it preferred the other.

"We are not suggesting a theme," said Rives, "or designing your building. We are looking for a viable solution. This is a key lot in the city."

He suggested a change in the proposed building's roof line, lowering the pitch of a roof over three drive-in windows, increasing the size of a planned copper rain gutter, and enclosing the soffit area under the eaves.

When final plans include those changes, and depict a low-rise sign, the bankers were told, approval will be given.

Commissioners approved an access variance allowing James Ahl to build a house at 1280 Millbrae Avenue, and approved a East Millbrae.

DAVID M. PARKER

Background, Statement by JESD Candidate Parker

(Last of Series)

David M. Parker has been a staff advisor for the Pacific Telephone Company for the past 24 years. He attended the University of California, majoring in business administration, and has lived in Daly City for 16 years.

Married, he has two sons in the elementary school district, for which he is a candidate for the Board of Trustees, and a daughter in high school.

Mr. Parker said the effectiveness of a public school system depends largely upon the adequacy of its financial support "and the wisdom with which the finances of the district are managed."

"I believe the taxpayers of the Jefferson Elementary School District have made a first class effort to support their schools. They deserve a Board of Trustees who will devote its efforts to securing the most educational value for their tax dollars," Parker said.

The school board is constantly faced with complex problems of business management. This phase of the school program frequently occupies more of the Board's time and attention than any other, according to candidate Parker, who is trying to gain a seat on the Board for the first time.

He said he has attended board meetings regularly since 1968 "gaining insight into the educational needs and goals of our community" and said he is well-informed on the issues "and aware of the problems and challenges confronting education today."

"I have the ability to work with others," Parker said, "and yet I think independently and I firmly believe I have the ability to rely on facts, rather than prejudices."

"Furthermore, I have the willingness to devote the necessary time to being an effective board member and would dedicate myself to bringing a new dimension, called 'results', to our school district," Parker said.

New legislation (SB 90) if implemented next year, will freeze local property tax rates at their current levels. While lessening the burden of the property taxpayer, many school districts will find themselves locked into a tax rate bracket which is inadequate to maintain existing programs in the future, Parker explained.

"It is therefore incumbent upon the school board to continually evaluate programs, weighing the effectiveness of programs and services against financial limitations and determine what immediate needs of the community's youth can be met in relation to long-term goals."

"It is important that the school board provide competent fiscal management by requiring good purchasing, accounting and auditing procedures and a capable staff," Parker said.

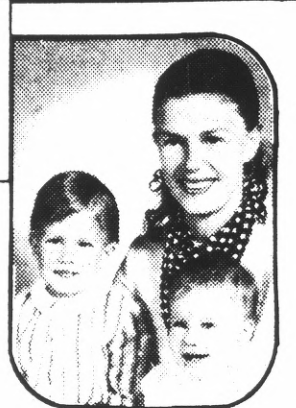

He said his 24 years of "practical business experience" coupled with his specialized education in business administration "will bring sound, fundamental business practices and workable systems of accountability to the operation of our school district."

Union Leader Sounds Off

Dick Griffith, re-elected president of the San Bruno local of the American Postal Workers Union last week, in his acceptance speech blasted the current postal service operation, calling it "hypocrisy at its best" and said there was "widespread disenchantment" among the rank and file employees of the post office.

He singled out as an example the issuance of 10 commemorative stamps purportedly aimed at honoring post office workers.

"They intend to honor these workers for a whole week while they (department officials) continue to show disdain and contempt for the ordinary rights of labor accorded other private enterprise unions a half-century ago."

Postal department employees may join a local but cannot strike. They must resort to their Washington, D.C., based lobby to pass measures, it was learned.

"Some personnel outside our local have suggested that these special stamps be boycotted as still another example of fiduciary exploitation of workers, since philatelic income does not provide comparable postal employment, particularly among clerks and carriers," he said.

These stamps are being largely stored by collectors, he said.

Griffith asked, "But how do you boycott a stamp?"

He said others have proposed that patrons be encouraged to affix stamps upside down as an indication of their "distress and support of postal labor's efforts to restore service and employee morale to what it once was."

But Griffith said his local is not suggesting this sort of action.

"We are, in fact, hoping to be allowed to cooperate with (the local postmaster) in providing the public with much-needed information during 'Postal Week'," Griffith said.

Postal Week runs from April 29 through May 5.

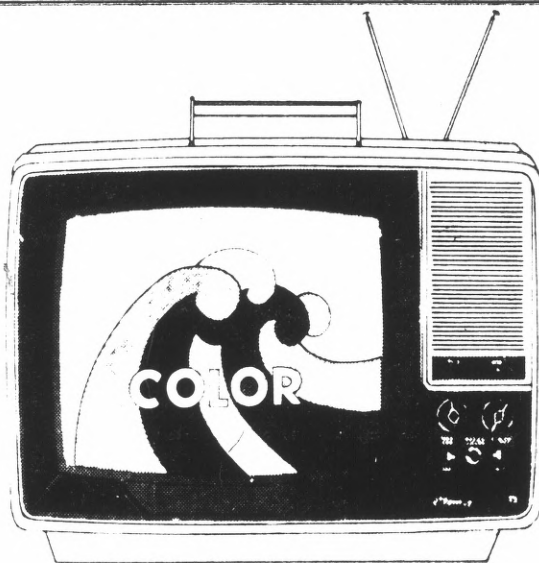

Also reelected to terms: Lloyd Gregg, vice president; John Pinkerton, secretary-treasurer; and Henry Suzuki, shop steward. Bernice Wilkins continues as membership chairman was also announced.

$50 Million Price Placed on Housing Needs for the Poor

It would take at least $50 million to provide adequate housing for all of San Mateo County's low-income residents, members of the county Human Rights Commission were told last week.

San Mateo County Housing Authority Commissioner Tom Bruce made the statement during an informal meeting at San Mateo City Hall of officials of the Human Relations Commission and Housing Authority.

Bruce estimated there are as many as 10,000 low-income persons in the county who are "ill-housed." Bruce added it would be necessary for county voters to pass a $50 million bond issue if the needed housing is to be provided. Federal support of low-income housing projects has been discontinued.

Housing authority commissioners agreed, however, that the possibilities are very slim that county voters would approve such a bond issue.

Housing Authority Executive Director Glenn Weman told Human Relations Commission members that the Authority presently has 850 housing units in the county but added that there is a list of "approximately 900 families" waiting to move into one of the Authority's units.

Weman also said he is still uncertain as to how President Nixon's recent freeze on HUD funds for housing projects will affect the Authority's plans to proceed with the 150-unit Midway Village redevelopment project in Daly City.

The Authority has already spent about $100,000 on plans for the $4.9 million project.

Weman also told the commissioners that the Authority is gradually dispersing its housing units throughout the county from major "pocket areas" in San Mateo, East Menlo Park and East Palo Alto.

He added, however, that the Authority presently has no housing units in San Carlos, Hillsborough or Atherton.

Weman noted that 80 per cent of the Authority's housing recipients are on welfare and said it is very difficult for a welfare family to afford the $40 per month average rent paid at most of the Authority's housing units.

Millbrae Educator Joins Pal in Jail Cell

Dr. Theodore L. Murguia, a resident of Millbrae, has been named president of San Jose City College by trustees of San Jose Community College District.

He will assume duties in the $29,000-a-year post on July 1.

Dr. Otto Roemmich, who has served as president of the college as well as superintendent of the district, relinquishes his presidential duties to Murguia on that date, to concentrate on district matters. The district is currently engaged in developing the new Evergreen Valley College scheduled to open in 1975.

Student, faculty, classified and administrative representatives composing the interview and screening committee, reviewed almost 60 applicants for the position.

According to Roemmich, all applicants were from the West Coast and primarily California. "Dr. Murguia's outstanding combination of teaching and administrative experience, eminently qualifies him for this position," he said.

Murguia earned his B.A. degree at Park College, Missouri in 1951; his M.S. at Kansas State University in 1952; his M.A. at the University of Washington in 1958; and in 1961, his Ph.D. at the University of Washington. He attended elementary and secondary schools in San Bernardino.

The 48-year-old educator interrupted his education to serve with the United States Navy during World War II (1943-1946).

From 1952-1956, Murguia taught Spanish, English and social studies in San Bernardino secondary schools, and next served as a teaching assistant at the University of Washington until 1958. During the years 1958-1961, he was an instructor and assistant professor at the University of California, Santa Barbara, serving as director of student teachers of Spanish.

In the summer of 1962, Murguia served as native informant, NDEA Spanish Institute, at the University of Southern California.

He joined San Francisco State College faculty in 1962 as assistant professor of foreign languages, advancing to associate professor in 1966 and becoming professor of foreign languages in 1971.

Murguia was a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Granada, Spain, in 1968-1969, and during the summer of 1968 was study tour director of an educational tour program visiting Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina and Brazil.

In his current chairmanship of San Francisco State's department of foreign languages, Murguia coordinates seven foreign language programs, plus a teacher training program for language majors. He supervises 35 full-time instructors, along with a number of part-time instructors and teaching assistants, bringing his total staff to almost 60.

His administrative experience covers coordinator of the Spanish program at SFSC from 1964-1972; chairman of the SFSC foreign languages; coordinator of Latin-America Area studies at SFSC in 1970-1971, and membership during those years in the academic senate.

S.F. Cyclist Is Injured

A 20-year-old San Franciscan is in the intensive care ward of Mary's Help Hospital as a result of a motorcycle accident on Interstate 280 in Daly City April 3.

CHP officers at first found only abrasions and a forehead laceration on the motorcyclist, Douglas Gerhart. However, doctors conducted exploratory surgery for possible internal injuries on Gerhart.

According to officers, Gerhart was on the shoulder, almost under the high-rise hospital where he is now confined. He started up his motorcycle, but hit the lip of the pavement, lost control of his motorbike, struck the curb and flew over, officers said.

Young Man Joins Pal in Jail Cell

Eighteen-year-old Thomas Wayne Peterson protested too much when his friend Donald Stephen Ragland, also 18, was booked for burglary.

Peterson, ignoring two requests to leave the San Bruno Police Station after the booking of Ragland, was placed in jail with his companion.

He was charged with "willfully obstructing and interfering in lawful police business."

One police sergeant shook his head. "They sure make things hard on themselves," he said.

It all started when police received a call of a burglary in progress at 24 Buena Vista Avenue at about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Police responded and found Ragland and a 17-year-old companion inside the vacant house, which is up for sale. The juvenile, who was taken to Hillcrest Detention Center, also had been listed as a runaway, police said.

According to the police, a window had been broken in the garage to gain entrance. Property reportedly in the possession of Ragland and his juvenile friend totaled $8, according to a police report.

After transporting the two to the police station, a group of youngsters, said to be 10 to 15 in number, responded to the police station to protest the arrest.

Police asked the youths to leave if they had no lawful police business.

Peterson, of 600 Second Avenue, San Bruno, refused.

"So he got to be with his buddy, whom he wanted to see so badly," said an officer.

Ragland's address was listed as 4 Atlantic Avenue, San Bruno.

Pacifica Debate Over Street

The fate of a proposed 3,400-foot cul-de-sac and the question of fire protection for an entire section of Pacifica took up most of Wednesday night's special City Council hearing on the 807-acre Rockaway Highlands development.

Councilmen will hold a fourth session on the controversial $25 million 807-unit development April 18. At that time they will consider a report from their fire department on fire protection, as well as details on what the developer, Challenge Developments, can offer in the way of amenities, and quality of building design, which — it appears — would determine whether the council orders the development plan to be cut back and by how much.

The length of the cul-de-sac, which would contain 370 living units, has been the target of numerous critics of the development plan, particularly on the grounds of safety and access of emergency vehicles.

Ted Cannis, making the presentation in behalf of Challenge, presented a new layout for the unnamed cul-de-sac. After its first 600 feet, the street would branch into two one-way parallel streets, connected by a series of connector streets, with the appearance of a step-ladder.

A Rare Show Of Unanimity At Jefferson

Spring is in the air and election promises are blooming everywhere. Posters are busting out all over and the commitments being made by candidates are piled as high as an elephant's eye.

Election fever has apparently even affected the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of trustees where three members are seeking to be returned to office.

For the first time in many months there was complete unanimity among the five board members on every matter brought before them Wednesday night.

Board watchers called it a "first" in recent history and credited the upcoming April 17 trustee election with curbing any boat rocking on the part of the incumbents running — Mrs. Dorothy Adams, James Cranna and Albert Collett.

The five members raced through the lengthy agenda in record time.

In less than two hours they cleared 23 items, approval of agendas and even payroll warrants without question.

Those comments that were made were unusually subdued and even pleasant.

Items discussed included:

A letter from retired school employee Mrs. Marjorie H. Tobias in which she volunteered to work on a part-time basis at the George Washington School assisting the principal, Dr. William Fowler. Superintendent Frank Greenwood said the district was now undergoing review of its administrative needs and he could not make a firm recommendation on the matter at this time.

"As far as Miss Tobias' offer to help is concerned it is much appreciated, however, (I have) every confidence in Dr. Fowler in operating the George Washington School," Greenwood informed the board.

The board authorized Larry Anderson to attend the National Association for Childhood Education International Study Conference in Wichita, Kans. Anderson is president of the Daily City branch of the Association for Childhood Education.

Big Tire Theft

A simple arrangement for next day service at a San Bruno tire dealership turned out to be a $1,327.62 burglary loss yesterday.

Police learned that 57 tires were taken from Gerard Tire Service, Inc., 1798 El Camino Real.

Police said a man apparently hid in his van that had been driven into the cinder block building for safekeeping overnight.

According to police, both the van and the tires were gone the next day.

Councilmen wanted to know how effective the new street layout would be for fire-fighting off any decisions until they could obtain reports on the proposed amenities and on fire protection.

Much of the discussion of fire protection centered about local Drive, now a short cul-de-sac, possible sites were discussed.

The proposed civic center on lower Fessler Drive.

The proposed Skyline Parkway near the Portola Discovery site.

Somewhere in between — in the Rockaway Highlands development.

Among questions raised were what could Challenge provide in the way of such a site.

Other objections raised by the Planning Commission, when they rejected the development 7-0, which are due to be discussed by the council include:

Whether the ridges should be cut down for home and highway sites.

Whether the five acres of over 35 per cent slope should be permitted to be used.

Whether density should be reduced.

Whether area devoted to pavement (21 acres) should be reduced.

Meanwhile, councilmen did take final action on a second matter that had been placed on the agenda — adoption of local procedures governing preparation of environmental impact reports.

Two proposals were presented to them. One was a 35-page detailed set of procedures, prepared for them by City Atty. John Sherman, who used already adopted state and county guidelines. The other proposal was a short one, prepared by the planning department, which referred state guidelines by title.

Councilmen adopted the short form, on the basis that the state was planning to hold hearings in August for final guideline adoption, at which time they may change their present procedures.

Bible Debate in D.C. Schools

The Holy Bible might be responsible for opening up Pandora's Box, some officials of the Jefferson Elementary School District fear today.

Not with its contents, rather with its distribution.

Deputy District Attorney Thomas Casey said this week that unless a policy concerning distribution of literature on school property within the district is adopted there is no way to forbid distribution of literature — including the Bible.

The Gideons, an organization that annually places thousands of Bibles in hotel rooms throughout the world, wants to distribute the Bible free in the JESD.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood said while he disagreed with Casey's opinion, there wasn't much he could do about it, inasmuch as the district had no policy for such matters. He cited sections of the State Education Code which forbids distribution of religious material to school children on campus.

Trustee Edward Tomasello asked that the board instruct Greenwood to handle distribution of the Bibles, and any other literature, on a case by case basis until a policy is formally adopted by the board.

No Bibles would be distributed to the children on school time or in classes. And they will not be forced to accept the Bibles, the board was assured by Greenwood.

"If I were a non-Christian parent, I would object if some one handed my child a Bible,"

Trustee Dorothy Adams said in cautioning her fellow board members to "read carefully and not use public funds" in administering this policy.

Casey advised the board they can regulate the time, place and type of material distributed to children on school grounds.

But some parents, and school administrators, fear the distribution of material by the Gideons may set the stage for handing out "all sorts of things," as one parent said after the meeting.

Man Hurt in Stagecoach Road Crash

A Pacifica man was critically injured Wednesday afternoon when his four-wheel drive car turned over on a steep hillside on a long-abandoned stagecoach road south of Pacifica.

Walter Beavers, 77 Paloma Ave., is in Mary's Help Hospital's orthopedic section this morning, being treated for a badly lacerated leg and possible head injuries.

Beavers and his companion, Donald E. Priest, San Francisco, were taking the car through the hillside trail when the car suffered an ignition malfunction. They tried to restart the car by pushing it. With Beavers at the wheel, Priest started pushing — and the car rolled over.

Luckily, Priest was not pinned under the car, but was thrown clear.

Pacifica firemen had to walk a mile and a half to rescue Priest. They gave him emergency treatment for a deep laceration over an eyebrow, possible neck injuries and multiple abrasions, as well as his bleeding leg.

Firemen used their "spine board" to carry Priest out.

Gang Killing Rapped

Alarmed by the apparent outbreak of gang warfare in Daly City, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors April 3 requested Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore to investigate the possibility of a coordinated detective operation to deal with the situation.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald suggested the proposal after noting the slaying of 19-year-old Kerry McDowell in apparent gang-style fashion Sunday in front of a Daly City home.

Fitzgerald pointed to the success of the Countywide Narcotics Unit and suggested that a similar organization might be established in conjunction with that group and the Organized Crime Unit, which investigates prostitution and possible subversive activities and demonstrations, to halt intrusion of gang warfare into the county.

Both the Organized Crime Unit and the Countywide Narcotics Unit are subsidized by federal funds, which may be terminated, Fitzgerald indicated that a coordinated detective function might be done on a strictly local basis.

MILLS GRAD

SAN DIEGO — Marine Pvt. Philip M. Backes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley P. Backes of 721 Sequoia Avenue, Millbrae, graduated from basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego.

Warning To Rail Firm On Smoking

Southern Pacific Co., reporting it had been warned by the state Public Utilities Commission, has told smokers on its Peninsula commuter trains that they must use only designated cars.

A railroad spokesman said April 3 that the PUC had warned that the most complaints against the line came from non-smokers.

"The commission said it was conducting an investigation into the matter and said it would, in effect, take over the enforcement of its ruling providing areas for non-smokers," he added.

Commissioners could ban smoking in all cars, he said.

Printed warnings were placed on 12,000 train seats Monday saying, "Many of you who wish to smoke are not respecting the rights of those who do not."

Coast Homes in Fire Danger, Water Gone

Some homes in the Rockaway Beach area of Pacifica have no water for fire protection—and won't have any for the next three to four months.

They had no water at all for some 36 hours after a water-logged hillside gave way and wiped out an eight-inch cast iron water line supplying the area. By next day, crews of the North Coast Water District managed to borrow an 800-foot length of 21-inch hose from the Pacifica Fire Department, bypassing the break. Workmen then quickly laid some 2-inch galvanized pipe to replace the firehose, thus ensuring domestic water for the residents.

According to Harlan "Rusty" Hill, water district manager, the next step will be to run an eight-inch line from Buell Avenue to the district's water tank. This project will involve abandoning the use of the weakened hillside and laying 400 feet of new pipe at a cost of $80,000. It would take three to four months to get the line in, according to Hill. The water tank for the area holds 20,000 gallons, which is enough to take care of domestic needs, but would be of little help in case of fire, Hill warned.

Millbrae Seeks

P.C. Applicants

Anyone wishing to be appointed to Millbrae's Planning Commission should contact City Hall immediately, says City Administrator Richard Watson, because a job opening exists.

City councilmen agreed to seek applicants upon hearing that Commissioner Eugene Morasoli is resigning for business reasons.

An appointee to replace him, it is hoped, will be chosen by the end of May, said Mayor Bernard Esser.

Police Row Continues in San Bruno

San Bruno's Police Association membership met Friday in the latest maneuver in their fight to have an inside test to fill the captaincy vacancy in the department.

As a result of the session, the association will seek another meeting with City Manager Gerald Minford. They met with him last week with no apparent success.

According to a police association spokesman, the purpose of the meeting with Minford will be to ask that advertising (outside) to fill the vacancy be held up until the matter (of going out or staying in) is settled.

The spokesman said that in the event the association does not get satisfaction, the group will go before the council.

It was the council that ordered that the position be filled with an open competitive examination.

Minford this week stated that there is no change in the council's stand. His meeting with the association was a courtesy gesture. No "meet and confer" is required in such a circumstance.

Most of the city's officials seem to think that the police association membership is making the proverbial mountain out of a molehill. It is, according to that faction, a matter of having nothing to fear, if the individual is qualified.

Police association members don't agree, especially since there is no disagreement as to the fact that the nine officers eligible to take the exam are qualified.

It is, association members say, a definite blow to morale when officers work long, hard programs to improve themselves for higher positions, only to have an outsider come in and take the top spots.

Police Chief Russell Cunningham

am sides with his officers. Although not consulted as to whether he had men of captaincy caliber, Chief Cunningham suggests that the council should order an inside exam first. In the event that fails to produce the desired administrator, then the council can always go outside.

The chief, and his men, feel there'll be no need to go outside. Ironically, the city's officials, too, say there's top material available. But they want to open the examination "for the good of the city."

Drug Counts On 2 in SSF

Two men were arrested in South San Francisco Tuesday and Wednesday after an undercover agent purchased several thousand "hits" of mescaline.

The arrests followed a cooperative investigation by the South San Francisco Police Department, the San Mateo County Narcotics Task Force and the District Attorney's Office.

The agent paid over $3,000 for the dangerous narcotic.

The arrests took place at 714 Olive Avenue.

Trent Funnannon, 23, 117 Claremont Avenue, South San Francisco, was charged with selling dangerous drugs. Bail on his offense was set at $10,000, and he was to appear in Northern Judicial District Court today.

James Bartoli, 24, 714 Olive Avenue, was charged with possession and cultivation of marijuana. He is free on $250 bail, pending a court appearance on April 17. He is accused of growing marijuana in his home.

Play Study In Pacifica

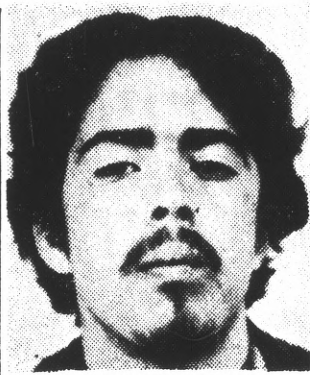

Pacifica's Parks, Beaches and Recreation Commission wants a new city ordinance that will require every new developer to supply recreation facilities for any future residents he brings in.

Commissioners will push for this objective in a joint meeting the PB&R Commission will hold with the Planning Commission at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at Oceana High School.

Up to now, PB&R commissioners have been reviewing plans for new developments and recommending various amenities. However, according to PB&R Director Richard Burton, putting it into the zoning code would aid the developer by telling him just what the city expects of him. Recreation facilities for new projects would thus be automatic, Burton said.

"We know we don't have enough recreation facilities for Pacifica," Burton said, "and it doesn't look as if we will get many more in the foreseeable future." He said, "However, if a new developer brings in 200 more people, we don't want to get further behind."

He added that he felt that developers have been cooperative because such amenities do help sell developments.

RON DELAROSA

Police Seek S.F. Youth

Daly City police intensified their efforts this weekend to find a seventh suspect in the killing of a teen-age boy and severe wounding of four others last Sunday night.

Five young men are in the county jail in Redwood City, charged with murder, and a sixth is charged with being an accessory after the fact. Still at large is Ronnie DeLarosa, 20, of San Francisco.

In a press conference called yesterday afternoon in Daly City, Police Sgt. John Kolbman released DeLarosa's picture. He told how he, and Officer Phil LaBruzzo of the Police Department Community Relations Office, have been working to "keep the lid" on fighting of youthful gangs.

There had been some fear, for a while, that Sunday's shooting would result in retaliation, but police promised that justice would be done.

The shooting took place in front of the home of Jack and Patrick Clements at 451 Bellevue in a normally quiet section of Daly City. All four injured persons — some of whose conditions were described as "guarded" and "critical" earlier this morning to be "out of the words" and recovering. They were Jack Clements, 16, and his brother Patrick, 19. David Gonzales, 19, and Gary Peachey, 19, all of Daly City. Slain was Kerry McDowell, 19.

$157,000 For Schools

A $157,000 appropriation to the county's economic opportunity program by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington will fund all Head Start programs in the county for another year. Edward R. Becks, executive director of the county's Economic Opportunity Commission, reported this morning.

According to Becks, the federal funds will mean that programs for pre-school aged children in Pacifica, Daly City, South San Francisco, San Mateo, Redwood City and East Palo Alto will be able to continue until at least April 1, 1974.

Word of the grant was received yesterday by Congressman Leo R. Ryan.

'No Extension Of Runways'

"There are absolutely no plans for the extension of Runways 1-right, or 1-left, across the Bayshore Freeway into the City of Millbrae, either now or in the foreseeable future," said San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto in a letter read to the Millbrae council last week.

The letter was sent by the mayor to Congressman Leo J. Ryan, who had asked about the runway extension proposal voiced by then-Director of Airports James K. Carr.

"Please assure your constituents that there are no such contemplated plans relative to this matter, and that the appropriate San Mateo (county) authorities will be kept informed of all San Francisco International Airport development plans," said Alioto.

Airport officials will go before the Bay Conservation and Development Commission tomorrow, seeking approval of a plan to install a new "instrument landing system" southward from Runway 28-right. Deputy Director of Planning Thomas Bertken said this morning that the new "ILS" system would consist of pilings, a trestle structure, and lights to permit "Category 3-A" landings in bad weather.

Existing ILS systems in use at the airport permit "Category II" landings, in which the pilot must be able to see the ground when he approaches within 100 altitude, or cancel the landing, said Bertken.

"Category III-A" landings are virtually blind, and are only permitted for planes properly equipped.

"This will be one of only two such installations in the country," said Bertken.

The only other runway work planned for the immediate future, he said, is the 2300-foot extension of paving on Runway 28-R, by this summer.

The extension will be on land that was filled in, about four years ago, he said. No new filling of the Bay is contemplated.

New Business At S.S.F.

Carpenter-Offutt Paper, Inc., has announced plans to lease 25 acres and a 175,000 square foot building in the C&F, Cabot & Forbes South San Francisco Office-Industrial Park. COPI, an ALCO Standard partner company, will move sales and distribution headquarters into the building along with the operations of their subsidiary, Viking Paper Converters.

COPI, at 333 Oyster Point Boulevard, will become the 67th tenant in the CC&F South San Francisco Park. The firm is now located in San Francisco. Eighty people will be employed.

Trespassers Are Cited On Slide

In a continuing crackdown on people climbing down dangerous Devil's Slide on the Coastside, despite county-posted "No Trespassing" signs, two sheriff's deputies cited 27 persons, including seven women, for hiking and climbing in a prohibited area Wednesday afternoon.

Last Saturday, 37 persons were given citations, and Wednesday's incident was a virtual repeat of that incident, Deputy Rodney I. Eagen and Robert E. Poynter reported this morning.

Those cited on the latest occasion ranged in age from a 58-year-old man to a 21-year-old woman, the deputies said.

Eagen and Poynter reported they were patrolling Cabrillo Highway in the early afternoon hours when they noticed a large concentration of cars parked in "no parking" zones and emergency pull-off restricted areas at the southern end of the slide. They observed some 20 to 30 people looking down the cliff, where people were climbing down and up from the beach.

Checking the beach 150 yards below, the officers reported they could see approximately 30 men and 15 women running around or lying nude on the beach. They said there were about 40 adults and juveniles also on the beach with their clothes on.

Because of the numerous illegally parked vehicles, the deputies said several accidents occurred.

Colma Creek Funds Possible

Congressman Leo J. Ryan (D-S.F.) reported he could push through legislation to federally fund the rebuilding of Colma Creek "faster than ever before."

Even with the support of fellow legislators, however, funds would not be forthcoming for at least seven years, Ryan feels.

And victims of the recent Colma floods, along with city officials and San Mateo County supervisors are not willing to wait.

They want action on preventing further disasters along the oil-flooded creek immediately. What these officials now propose is to undertake the project themselves.

Funding for the project, which is estimated at $5 million depending on the extent of reconstruction—would come from those five cities within the Colma Creek Flood Control District.

Within that district are the cities of South San Francisco, Daly City, Colma, San Bruno and several homes in Pacifica.

Each would participate in financing the flood control program based on what Vince Sanders, deputy San Mateo County engineer and chief advisor to the Flood Control District Board of directors, calls a "subzone of benefit concept."

In short, what this concept does is break zones of benefits down into three categories.

For example South San Francisco suffers the worst damage during flooding and would therefore realize the greatest benefits.

Daly City, Colma and San Bruno, contribute or suffer damages to lesser degrees and would be placed in comparable zones.

"Even if we had the money in our pockets right now, it would take three years to complete the project," Sanders said.

It would take one year of planning and two years of construction, he said. This is based on what Sanders says is the "shortest possible time."

To get the ball rolling, initial monies would come from the cities involved. Later, the Flood Control District would levy taxes to repay the advanced money.

Meantime, the district would apply for federal assistance.

Ryan on the other hand thinks his way is better. The freshman Congressman told The Times in an exclusive interview today that he had "already started to wire" the project together.

He was referring to talks he has held with fellow legislators in laying the groundwork for funding of the project which has been in the Corps of Engineers' mill for the past 10 years.

And while Sanders proposes the flood project be presented to the district's board in four proposals, Ryan thinks they should wait a while longer—perhaps as little as three years longer—and do a complete job with federal money.

"That's how long it would take to get the appropriation, I feel," Ryan said.

He said San Mateo County had contacted him indicating the local government would undertake the project with their own funds and asking Ryan to push legislation to repay costs of the project.

DENVER — Airman Pablo V. Bacani, son of Leonardo M. Bacani of 381 Geier Boulevard, Daly City, has graduated at Lowry AFB, Colo., from the U.S. Air Force supply inventory specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command.

The airman, trained to inventory supplies by use of electronic data processing machines, is being assigned to Hamilton AFB, Calif., for duty with a unit of the Air Training Command, which provides flying, technical and basic military training for Air Force personnel.

Airman Bacani, a 1964 graduate of Far Eastern University High School, Manila, Philippines, attended Feati University, Manila.

Millbrae Joins Delta Study

Filling the Sacramento River Delta lowlands with sewage sludge and garbage from the Bay Area seems inconsistent with good ecological practices, members of the Millbrae City Council have said.

Still, they have agreed to let the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) know that Millbrae will join other Bay Area cities in investigating the possibilities.

What made the project seem especially unbelievable, said Mayor Bernard Esser, is that it is apparently supported by the Sierra Club.

"This doesn't seem consistent with their stand on purification of the Bay, cleaning up the mudflats, and preserving the fish," he said.

City Administrator Richard Watson asked for the council to indicate whether or not it was interested in joining the study. He said ABAG's study would determine whether Bay Area garbage, trash, and sewage sludge, could be transported to the Sacramento Delta economically, and used to "reclaim submerged land."

City Engineer Val Padovan said a problem that came immediately to mind was the possibility of erosion, which would then let tons of garbage-laden silt sweep down the river and into the Bay.

"I can't see," said Councilman Harold Purpus, "how this is consistent with the past record of the Sierra Club. This would affect the Delta area waterfowl and their habitat, if any great portion of that area were filled in."

Councilmen William Glang, Art Lepore and Barney Spera suggested the council should "express interest" with the idea of withdrawing if the plan proved ecologically unsound.

No Leads in Shooting

Daly City police, working closely with San Francisco police, have no leads today in the shooting of James Cletus "Jimmy" Johnson, the youth dropped off at Mary's Help Hospital shortly after midnight yesterday.

A woman resident of the Mission District in San Francisco told police she heard two shots and a man's scream about 2 a.m. Wednesday in front of a Clinton Park Street building.

When she looked out she saw two men — one armed with a rifle — helping a third man who appeared wounded into the rear of a white two-door sedan.

Detective Ed Jensen said the car that dropped Johnson off at the hospital was a white two-door sedan.

It sped off after depositing the gravely injured man in the emergency room of the facility. But there have been no reports of a burglary in the Clinton Park Street section of San Francisco involving a shooting.

Official speculation is that Johnson was accidentally shot in the back by his rifle-carrying companion.

He was reported in critical condition today following surgery yesterday to remove a damaged kidney. He is scheduled to undergo further surgery to remove the bullet, still lodged in his back, authorities said.

Police said they did not believe the shooting of Johnson was in any way connected with the gang-style shooting of several youths in front of a Bellevue Street home Sunday night.

2 Lincoln P-TA Life Awards

Abraham Lincoln School P-TA has awarded Honorary Life memberships to two persons. Linda Nutting, publicity chairman of the Lincoln P-TA unit, announced this week.

Better Business

By LORENE BEASLEY

San Mateo firms have reported receiving long distance calls offering "distress" office supplies, such as pens and paper for copy machines, at rock bottom prices. It is hard to believe but it seems to be relatively easy to fall for the convincing sales presentations of the fraudulent supply firms which make business, schools and colleges their targets. They sell their wares, change their address and phone number and then disappear.

The sales presentations usually come from out-of-state offices. They come mostly from New York City, Dallas and Los Angeles. Sometimes the callers identify themselves as being recommended by an official of the prospect's firm. Frequently they are "physicians" or "dentists" who are being forced to liquidate stocks of recently acquired stationery supplies. Sometimes a caller is liquidating his deceased parent's supply company. Or, due to a cancellation of a government order, a large surplus of material is being offered at a fraction of the original cost.

THE PAPER offered may turn out to be a manufacturer reject. Check the warranty or service contract of your copy machine.

Complaints to the Better Business Bureau, and this racket is nationwide, indicate that the paper when received was either substandard, wrong size or the wrong type of paper and not the first quality brand name merchandise as represented by the salesman.

Complainants report shipment arrived in larger quantities than ordered. In one instance, a telephone order of $200 was increased to $1,579.63 when the invoice was received. In some cases the supply company has refused to accept the return of the merchandise, claiming that there "had to be a misunderstanding."

THOSE WHO accepted shipments found the paper too late to be "Manufacturer reject". One firm tried to stop payment of its check only to find it had been cashed within thirty minutes of the delivery of the paper.

Better Business Bureau advises extreme caution when dealing with such firms. Office personnel should be alerted to the practices used in selling "distress office supplies". Before falling for out-of-state paper supply firms, check the prices of your local supplier. You may be surprised to find that his price for the quality of paper you want is lower than the "distress discounted prices" quoted over the phone.

Airports Get State Funds

San Mateo County's two general aviation airports, Half Moon Bay and San Carlos, will each receive a $5,000 capital improvement grant from the state. It was announced in Sacramento today.

Included in allotments totaling $627,602 distributed by the State Board of Aeronautics from user tax funds for 1973, were allotments to 136 California airports.

The maximum $5,000 allotments were made, for the local airport improvements, and for work at Hayward, Livermore, Reid-Hillview in San Jose, and Palo Alto airports. The allotments must be matched by local money.

(Selected as first place winner in recent California Association of Nurserymen Garden Feature Writing Contest.)

If you've had a hard time lately getting your children to eat vegetables, it may be a good idea to let them start their own garden and grow their own vegetables. It will give the youngsters an insight into plant growth and a sense of accomplishment when the finished product is picked, cooked and served at the dinner table.

A home vegetable garden is not as complicated as it might sound. Many crops can be grown in very limited space with good results. Easter week, when children are out of school, is an excellent time to plant vegetables. This will enable them to harvest their crops in summer — starting when school is out, and continuing well into the summer vacation. What better summer project than caring for, and harvesting vegetables for the whole family to enjoy?

A sunny site should be chosen where the soil can be prepared to a depth of a foot or more. Allow the child to help in obtaining and applying enriching organic material to the soil. Compost is good, if you have it; nurseries have peat moss, leaf mold, and wood bark products, as well as ready-to-use planter mixes. These materials help beef-up the soil, help with drainage, and retain moisture.

A sharp hoe, or cultivator is good for checking weeds, but they can be controlled by spreading a two- or three-inch mulch throughout the vegetable garden. There are commercial mulches to use, as well as grass clippings, hay, or even pine needles. Mulching includes several side benefits including the addition of gradually decomposing matter into the soil, the maintenance of fairly constant soil temperature and retention of moisture.

There are many summer vegetables to plant now, and your nurseryman can assist you in selecting them. For the child's garden, such things as Radishes, Squash, Beans, Corn and Leaf Lettuce are excellent choices, because of harvest times. For instance, if Radishes are planted during Easter week, youngsters can be harvesting them in early June, probably even before school is out. Summer Squash — Zucchini, Crookneck, Scallop — take about 60-75 days; and Lima and Snap Beans take about 75 days. With Corn, planted now, it's about 90 days until picking time. A novel item is Rhubarb (Swiss) Chard, which is reddish-leaved and of ornamental value, as well. It takes about 50 days until first harvest, but, since you take just the bottom leaves you've a decorative plant as well as a tasty vegetable for the table — for up to six months.

What To Do In Garden

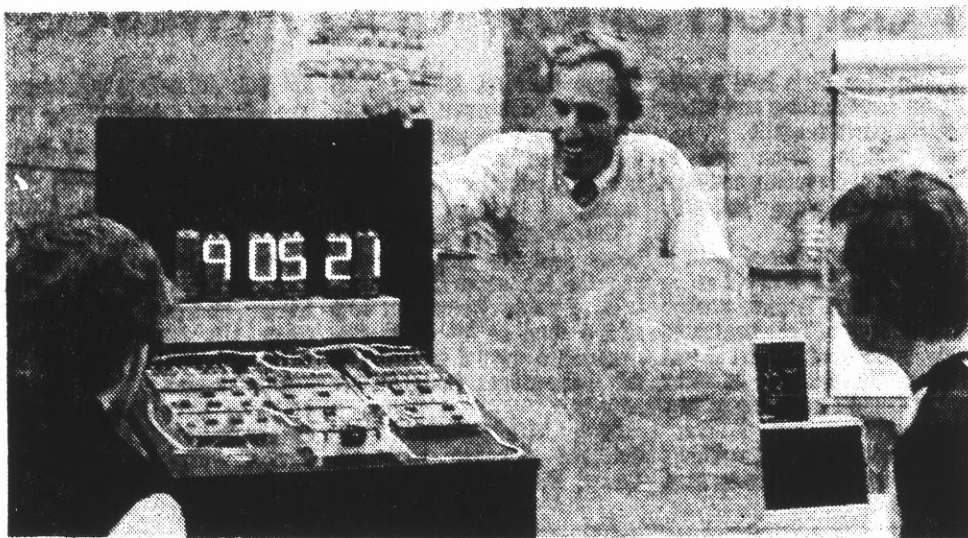

1 — April is a big month for planting summer-flowering annuals from nursery flats. A wide selection is available.

2 — Give lawns a spring feeding now. They will green-up within a week of being fed. Your nurseryman can recommend the proper lawn food for the type turf you have.

3 — Primrose plants may be divided as soon as they complete their spring bloom.

4 — Azaleas, Rhododendrons, Roses and Camellias — full of buds or in full bloom — make ideal Easter gifts.

5 — Now is the time to plant Tuberous and Fibrous Begonia seedlings. Give them some shade in hot, sunny climates.

Terra Nova Magazine Wins Again

Tiger Tales, Terra Nova's quarterly news magazine, has for the second consecutive year been awarded a first place certificate in the news-magazine division of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association's annual National High School Journalism Contest. Tiger Tales was in competition with about 1600 other high schools.

The young journalists made perfect scores in all specific writing categories: news, sports, features and editorial. They also had a perfect score in proof reading. Out of 300 possible points given for general writing and editing, Terra Nova scored 280, headline scores being the only factor which prevented a 100 percent in this classification.

"Writing is very good," features are interesting and very well written," editorials well done," were among positive comments made by C.S.P.A. judges.

Judging was based upon work in three Tiger Tales publications, the two Spring issues from last school year, and the first fall issue from this school year.

Honor Band Concert Is Friday Night

The 85-piece Jefferson High School District Honor Band which has been rehearsing once a week under the direction of Westmoor's Howard Loeffler, will hold a concert April 13 at 8 p.m., at Skyline Lodge.

The musicians were selected by audition from the five high schools in the district. Loeffler selected music which would cover the whole realm of the concert band literature. Going from the theme of "Shall" to Richard Strauss' themes from "Ein Heldenleben", the concert includes a rock gospel march based on "Dry Bones" along with a work of Leonard Bernstein called "Danzon".

Also on the program is Vivaldi's sounds of the spring season, simply called "Spring," plus selections by well known composers for concert band such as John Cacavas, John J. Morrissey and Clare Grundman.

The highlight of the concert and the most difficult to play will be "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Paul Dukas. Walt Disney helped to make this music famous with Mickey Mouse as the apprentice who magically makes too many water pumps which get out of control. The free concert will be held in Skyline College's San Bruno theater.

Mrs. Judy Mangano, on the teaching staff at Westmoor, will be mistress of ceremonies.

St. Augustine Wins First Place

St. Augustine's Building Fund booth won the first place prize at Serramonte Center's Community Bazaar on Saturday. Their booth was decorated to look like a church, including a steeple.

The second place prize went to Beta Sigma Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, from San Bruno. Their booth was decorated like an Easter basket.

Third place was won by the Mother's Club of Boy Scout Troop No. 37 from San Francisco. The booth was decorated in red, white and blue. The boys had a penny 10-4 to win gold fish.

Thirty-three clubs participated in the Spring Bazaar this year. They came from areas from San Francisco to Redwood City.

GIRL SCOUTING

MARY ANN DALE, Daly City Camp Coordinator announces the dates for the Day Camp at Junipero Serra are set at August 6-9 and 13-16 and that reservations may now be made by mail to Registrar Mrs. Shirley Figone, 327 Higate Avenue.

However, it is suggested that leaders bring registration to Mrs. Figone's home on April 27 to enroll all girls. Camperships may be available and all girls of Scouting age are invited to attend.

Registration forms are available from Mrs. Dale or any Scout leader. Adult training sessions are scheduled for Wednesday May 9 and 16 from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the camp and on Monday evening, June 4 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Briarwood Presbyterian church.

PROGRESSION of camping skills being so important in girl development, the camping committee will decide on older girl participation on the aide level and this year again, many seniors will hold adult positions of responsibility, according to Mrs. Dale.

"Sailing to the South Seas" will be the camping theme, according to the appointed Director, Mrs. Carol Klatt who will be assisted in the program development by Mrs. Elaine McDowell. SAN MATEO COUNTY will host the San Francisco Bay Area Girl Scout Council's TEQUE, this weekend, April 13-15, Friday thru Sunday. TEQUE, an event for Senior Scouts, means Trailblazers Enthusiastic Quest for Unsurpassed Efficiency.

This weekend's tests will include fire building, tent preparation, backpacking skills, conservation abilities, use of tools, judging of meals, knots and lashing, first aids, survival, compass, wilderness skills and a new event on emergency procedures which will lead to the TEQUE examination.

DAY AND RESIDENT camping opportunities are now available for girls from 7 to 17, whether or not they are presently active Scouts. The Brisbane Council office, at 58 Cypress Lane, 467-3330 has full information.

Some of the local camps already announced include the June 18 to 28 and July 30 to August 9 day camps of South San Francisco - San Bruno Associations at Junipero Serra Park and the July 15 to 21st Sierra camp run by the Daly City Association.

SCOUTING KAY DAY, Keop America Beautiful Day, is scheduled this year for April 28 with all troops and units participating to a larger extent than ever before. One feature of Scouting Keep America Beautiful Day will be the Daly City Bike Road-E-O.

This National Safety Council Award - of - Merit - winning program is coordinated by the Daly City Girl Scout Association, with the outstanding contributions of time and talent by the Police Explorer Post, a division of national Scout Explorers, sponsored locally by the Daly City Police Dept. and the Lions Club.

To include bike licensing by the Post and qualification obstacle courses, written exams and skills tests by the girl's Cadette troops No. 43 and 1620, this year's Bike Road-E-O will be held at two locations: Abraham Lincoln and George Washington school yards.

Israel-Judea Sisterhood's New Officers

Louanne Heath

The Sisterhood of Congregation Beth Israel-Judea elected new officers at its last meeting.

Vice presidents who will rotate as presidents are the Mmes. Abraham Titen, Kenneth Gruen, Jerome Gayne, Irving Rosenberg; the corresponding secretary and her assistant are Mrs. Richard Ruben and Mrs. Aleck Paul; financial secretary and assistant: Mrs. William Owen and Mrs. David Rose; recording secretary is Mrs. Harry Blumberg; treasurer is Mrs. Benjamin Rosen; advisor, Mrs. Nathan Alexander and parliamentarian, Mrs. Nathan Sternsher.

An interesting fund raising program was recently introduced by Mrs. William Owen. Called "Challenge Project," it began by sending each Sisterhood member a dollar with a string attached. If the challenge was accepted, the Sisterhood member would make that dollar grow by purchasing the raw materials for cooking, baking or sewing, as the case may be and then selling the finished product.

Mrs. Owen reports that the project is very successful and many items are for sale at all Sisterhood functions and meetings.

No Hebrew classes will be held during the week of Passover, April 16-24; no religious school on April 22.

Marc Sabin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred White, will be Bar Mitzvah on April 14.

The members of the Florence Crittenton Home's North Peninsula Auxiliary will spend today celebrating the unit's tenth anniversary!

It seems almost unbelievable that it was ten years ago that Mrs. Peter Markovich called me to provide the paper with all the details about the exciting new program being instituted in the north Peninsula area to aid the home for unwed mothers. In the intervening years many changes have taken place, what was once the North Peninsula Circle for the Florence Crittenton Home is now the North Peninsula Auxiliary and phenomenal changes in social attitudes have led to new approaches to the problems of unwed parenthood.

The auxiliary has grown in size and everyone involved has grown in understanding and in concern. The north Peninsula auxiliary deserves today's celebration and a lively round of applause for a job that continues to be well done.

Members who will be taking part in the anniversary observances will meet this morning at the Florence Crittenton Home in San Francisco at 10 o'clock for an address by Dr. Agnes Trinchero and a tour of the facilities, including the infant day care center. At noon the group will adjourn to The Mother Lode Restaurant on Union Street where an anniversary cake will be presented by the executive board of the home prior to the luncheon.

With its tenth year the auxiliary can boast of establishing a new "frontier." Men are now being accepted for membership and the first to claim the honor of affiliating with the group is Jack Epstein, father of membership drive chairman Mrs. Edward Macklin. Other new names appearing on the unit roster are Mrs. Corinne Beall, Mrs. Betty Elliott, Mrs. Kay Kaufman, Mrs. Barbara Caldwell, Mrs. Claire Lisaka, Mrs. Nanda Stewart, Mrs. Rose Rainer, Mrs. Mona Baker, Mrs. Sheldon Morton, Mrs. Nora Sotelo, Mrs. Janet Wilson, Mrs. Edna Skinner, Mrs. Dolly McClain and Mrs. Emma Lou James.

JEROME ANKER and Joseph Gold will present a program of orchestra and concert music tomorrow evening at Apios Junior High School in San Francisco.

The program, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. is open to the public and will feature the Apios orchestra under the direction of Gold and the concert band directed by Anker, the chairman of the music department. Admission is free.

ROBERT RICKERT has been named the general chairman of the Our Lady of Mercy Spring Festival according to Mrs. James McCann publicity chairman for the Westlake Catholic Women.

Rickert has selected May 3, 4, 5 and 6 as the dates for the annual funfest and has named Mrs. Francis Kelly, Seb Passanisi, Mike Cooney and Mrs. William Arata as his floor chairmen. Decorations will be the special province of Ed Cuevas and Mrs. Clyde Silverthorn and A. J. Phillips will arrange for the dinner being catered by Joe's of Westlake.

Mrs. Richard Mudge and Jim McCann have been named to manage the investments.

ANOTHER APPEAL from friends outside and this one reflects the growing problems created by rising food prices and the restricted incomes of those families with one parent incarcerated in local jails or prisons.

Mrs. Rudy Enberg of South San Francisco, the director of the Friends Outside Chapter in this area indicates that the pantry shelves in the organization office are sparsely filled. Canned goods of all kinds, rice, pasta, jello, packaged dinners, sugar, flour and canned or dried milk are in desperately short supply. Donations may be taken to the organization office, 3101 Nineteenth Avenue in San Francisco or inquiries may be made by calling 661-6900.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

If yours is a "meat and potatoes" family, these meatless days may make your meals a bit less appealing than you would wish. So I'd like to pass on a trick my mother taught me, make a delectable dessert and display it prominently. The sight of this chocolate pie, for example, will make the whole meal more special.

CHOCOLATE CREAM PIE

- 3 squares chocolate, unsweetened
- 2 1/2 cups milk
- 1 cup sugar
- 6 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell

In the top of a double broiler, combine the three squares chocolate with the two and one-half cups milk, heat over hot water until the chocolate is melted, then beat with a rotary beater until blended. Combine the one cup sugar, six tablespoons flour and half teaspoon salt in a small bowl, add enough of the hot chocolate to make a thin paste. Blend this into the hot chocolate gradually, stirring as you add and continue to cook over hot water until thickened, stirring constantly.

Spoon some of the hot chocolate mixture into the two beaten yolks, stirring vigorously as you add. Next blend the egg yolk mixture into the thickened hot chocolate and cook over hot water for two minutes longer. Remove from hot water, add the two tablespoons butter and one teaspoon vanilla. Cool and turn into baked pie shell. Top with meringue.

MERINGUE

- 2 egg whites
- dash of salt
- 4 tablespoons sugar

In medium bowl beat the two egg whites until frothy throughout. Add the dash of salt. Gradually add the four tablespoons sugar, a tablespoon at a time, beating well after each addition. Continued beating until meringue stands in stiff peaks. Place lightly on pie, spreading meringue so it touches inner edge of crust all around. This will prevent shrinking.

Bake in 350-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until delicately brown. Cool on rack away from drafts.

HERE IS A pie crust that requires no rolling, just press the dough into the pan. This amount makes two 8-inch crusts.

NO-FAIL PASTRY

- 1 3/4 cups flour
- 8 tablespoons shortening
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- pinch of baking powder
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 tablespoons milk

Sift the 1 3/4 cups flour, half teaspoon salt and pinch of baking powder into a bowl. Add the eight tablespoons shortening and cut in with pastry blender. Make a well in the center and add the one beaten egg and two tablespoons milk. Mix all together and pat into pie tins. No rolling required. Bake in 425-degree oven until lightly browned, about 10 minutes.

Terra Nova Topics

By DENISE BARR

This year, Terra Nova students have organized a Spring Fair, which will be held on May 4, from 3 to 8:30 p.m. Clubs, classes and individuals are working hard on booths and refreshments.

Mrs. Pat Finefrock, director of student activities, pioneered the idea because she felt that, "There's nothing on campus that appeals to everyone." She feels that the Fair will offer something for everyone: from food to games. The objective of the Fair is to start a tradition, something to look forward to and work on early in the school year.

Several booths are being made and students are enthusiastic. Students from Homemaking classes will prepare cake-walk, students from Homemaking classes will prepare chicken legs, and the A.F.S. club will offer donut holes.

Games will include a dart game by the sophomore class and roulette by the Math Club.

Some students are working on their own, and will sell their wares, some of which are pottery, needlepoint and other artsy, crafty items.

There will be a king and a queen of the fair, who will be seniors, as well as a Lord and Lady, Knight and Lady in Waiting, and Page and Peasant, who will be sophomores, and Freshman, respectively.

Students will be dismissed from school early the day of the fair to get booths set up. Everyone is encouraged to dress in costumes of the Old World.

T.N.'s spring Fair has something for everyone and it is hoped that all will get into the spirit of this first fair and make it a tradition.

A Special Day For Youths

Palm Sunday will be a very special day for a group of young people at Hope Lutheran Church, 55 San Fernando Way, Daly City.

Ten seventh graders will be received into communicant membership by rite of confirmation during the 11 a.m. service, having completed two years of study under the pastor, the Rev. Armin H. Poister. They are Mary Anderson, Donna Chase, Lora Felcetti, Jeanette Litzus, Kurt Hagenah, Russell Niebold, Greg Reschke, Ruth Sabol and Scott Vogel. They will be honored guests at a special brunch served by members of the Hope Lutheran Ladies' Guild during the Sunday School hour that same day.

These young people will be the last group of seventh graders confirmed at this age. Beginning next year, confirmation will take place after a study class at the end of the 10th grade.

On Maundy Thursday another special group of young people will participate in the Lord's Supper and the first time having completed their religious instruction under Rev. Poister and Mrs. Ray Little. They are: Tanya Alha, Jan Andersen, Carl Clark, Lori Cockrell, Dennis and Kurt Desfina, Karen Elliot, John Frit, Lora Garcia, Barry Hansen, Grant Leash, Kurt Little, Patricia Looke, Georgeanne Locke, Peggy Morris, Tam O'Conner, Andrea Rice, Martin Ruppert, Michele Rushton, Mary Smith and Laurie Thayer. They will be the first to receive the Eucharist in the 10th grade.

These new junior communicants will be honored at Hope's traditional Easter Breakfast, to be prepared and served 7:30 a.m. by Hope's teen group, the Walther League.

Mills High Slates 'Fiddler On the Roof

Mills High Music Theatre's production for this spring will be "Fiddler on the Roof".

The show, an enjoyable folk tale based on the stories of Sholom Aleichem, has been in rehearsal since February, and will be presented April 26, 27, and 28, in the Mills High auditorium in Millbrae.

Directed by Allen Knight with assistant Miriam Feder, the cast includes Mike Cantley as Tevye, Terri Korn as Golda, Sally Pipia as Yente the Matchmaker, and Alvin Balin as Lazar Wolfe the Butcher. Tevye's three eldest daughters are played by Ann Glang, Karen Fiene, and Amy Anderson; the men they play opposite are David Pincus, Ross Bruce, and Mike Akay.

John Samish is stage manager for the production, with Carol Finney as his assistant. The elaborate settings for the village of Anatevka are beautifully decorated by Sandy Smith. Choreography is being handled by Berle Davis, of Dance Arts Center in San Mateo; vocal direction has been undertaken by Constance Hemenway.

The orchestra will be conducted by Bill Goyette, a new teacher to Mills, featuring solos by Tyannne Hennig on the violin, and Sylvan Selig on clarinet.

It's Exciting Being Spectator

If a person is looking for excitement on Thursday evenings the place to find it is War Memorial Community Center where many local men take part in the Daly City Recreation Department's Adult Three Man Hunch Basketball. Being a spectator is very exciting as these men showcase their outstanding basketball ability. Here are the results of last week's games.

THREE MAN HUNCH OPEN DIVISION — More excitement could not be found than that on the court when the Sportmen came face to face with the Top Three Eschelon. In a regulation 40 point game the final score was 55 to 51 in favor of the Sportmen. Even though Dennis Jew put on a one man show for the Top Three by scoring 39 points the depth of the Sportmen prevailed. Robert Hector was outstanding by scoring 27 points for the Sportmen.

The Superflys buzzed by the high flying Hawks 40-29 in a later contest. The game was far from one-sided but Barry Norton's 17 points proved too much for the Hawks. Frank Oross used his muscular body to get in an score 17 points for the Hawks in a stellar performance.

Unstoppable? So far this is the case as the Red Shield captured their third successive triumph. This time the victim was the Go To The Hoopers as they fell by the respectable score of 40-29. Team work seems to be the key to the success of the Shield as all of their players score almost equally. Earl Ridgeway led the attack with 12 points. Big Mike Mjehovich scored 14 points for the Hoopers and played a great defensive game.

THREE MAN HUNCH — SIX FOOT AND UNDER — In a battle of unbeaten Six Shooters shot down the No-Names by the score of 44-40 in overtime. Vic Scott, Dev Elias, and Larry Mesely all scored 12 points each for the fast shooting Six Shooters. Larry Norton sporting 24 points led the gallant No-Names charge.

The Warriors went on the war path in the overtime to tomahawk the Leppin Lizards by the score of 46-42. In a game where the lead changed hands on numerous occasions the Warriors kept up their chant for victory until it was finally theirs. Manny Garcia and Rorey Faiola tied for game honors with 17 points each for the Warriors. Gil Costas scored 14 for the Lizards as they held on like Custer before going down to defeat.

The Go To The Hoopers went to the hoop and exterminated all Grasshoppers in a 40-30 Hoener victory. Don Carter once again was phenomenal with 17 points whereas Jim Gallagher sent 13 points through the hoop as the Grasshoppers went down to their first defeat.

Outdoor Weather and Poison Oak

The warm months of spring and summer allow people to enjoy the out of doors.

Whether barbecuing at a park or in your backyard poison oak is a potential problem to any person who utilizes outdoor recreation facilities. Direct contact or contact with contaminated clothing or pets are the most common ways of getting poison oak. Thorough washing of clothing and pets after exposure will help to minimize indirect transmission of the oils which cause the dermatitis.

According to doctors of the area 50 to 80 per cent of poison oak cases are contracted on private property or in surrounding urban areas. Creek beds and banks, shaded canyons and vacant lots are contributing factors in the urban environment. This points out the need for control by property owners in the city areas. With cooperative effort by property owners in urban areas, poison oak can be effectively controlled in those developed portions of the county.

There are chemical weed killers available that are most effective when used correctly. The Environmental Health staff have researched this thoroughly, have had the advice of university, agricultural and occupational experts and have developed a summary sheet on the methods of eliminating poison oak. These procedures have been field tested and found to be efficient.

Only those people who have had serious cases of poison oak can appreciate the real need for control. Hardly a family can be found in this county that has not had a case of poison oak at one time. Many man hours are lost from poison oak dermatitis each year and more importantly many young children lose valuable time from school. Educating children and members of the community about poison oak is necessary.

Poison oak is usually an erect shrub two to six feet tall. It also may trail along the ground or climb trees and fences. The shiny leaves, shaped like oak leaves in leaflets of three are three to six inches long. They turn yellow or red when the soil begins to dry out in late spring or early summer. Greenish white flowers come out along with the leaves, usually in April or May.

There have been cases of poison oak which have required hospitalization for weeks, but the majority are treated in the general practitioner's office. Cases are so numerous that the general practitioner rather than the specialist sees these patients.

A case of poison oak which requires any kind of care is an extremely aggravating experience. Secondary infections from excessive scratching are also a problem.

If the printed information about poison oak control is desired, please contact the Environmental Health Section of the Department of Public Health, 225 West 37th Avenue in San Mateo, or call 573-2301.

OLA Loses First Game in League

Some solid hitting plus many close and disputed calls at home resulted in Our Lady of Angels Varsity's first league defeat at the hands of All Souls Sunday, 10-9, in a ten inning, see-saw, heart stopper.

All Souls scored two runs in the first inning to start the battle. OLA went ahead 3-2 in the second inning. Scoring again in the fifth and sixth innings, All Souls lead again 6-3. OLA rallied with six runs in the bottom of the sixth to go ahead 9-6, but All Souls tied it up 9-9 in the top of the seventh. The winning run scored in the top of the tenth inning on a double by Ken Huerle.

Starting pitcher, Dave Rosalia of All Souls gave up eight hits and struck out eight in seven innings, while starter, Matt Beauvais of OLA gave up six hits and struck out 13 in eight innings. Both relievers, Frank Fano of All Souls, and Matt Giampoli of OLA gave up two hits and struck out four. Effective hitters for OLA were Tim Healy, four singles, Charles Dougherty, two singles, and Scott Penner, a double. Dave Rosalia of All Souls got a double and two singles. Frank Fano three singles, and Ken Huerle a single and a double.

PYGMIES
OLA's sixth grade lost to All Souls 5-4 when the winning run scored in the top of the ninth inning. It was their first loss.

RAMBLERS
OLA's fourth and fifth graders rolled over All Souls 11-4, to remain undefeated, behind starting pitcher Tom Piazza and relievers Paul Beauvais and Mark McGuigan.

OLA jumped to an early lead when a home run by Jerry Frigon in the first inning started a four-run rally. All Souls came back with three runs in the top of the second, but a triple by Frigon in the second inning and singles by Paul Beauvais, Bill Cotter, and Marty Giampoli increased OLA's lead 8-3. Frigon's double in the third and singles by Richard Przybyszewski, Vince Colvin and Mike Penner, brought in the final three runs. All Souls scored their final run in the fourth.

OLA meets St. Roberts this Sunday at San Bruno Park.

Good Start for Girls' Volley Ball

The first week of Girls Volleyball in the Daly City Recreation Department's newly formed league proved to be successful. Some teams showed a lot of experience.

The league will run for six more weeks and is the first step in many future events for the girls of our community. All games are played at Westmoor High School on Saturdays starting at 10 a.m.

Minds Not on the Game

By STEVE JOHNSON

The Two Mid-Peninsula League baseball co-leaders had their minds on anything but showdown yesterday.

Hillsdale smashed Capuchino in a 13-2 ory, while Burlingame crushed Aragon, 9-2. Crestmoor punched across a run in the seventh to nip Mills, 3-2, in the other league action.

The Knights and Panthers, ly both tied for the MPL lead at 4-1, meet Wednesday at Hillsdale in a 3:15 game that may give the winner an inside track to the round-robin title.

Cap flailed away at Hillsdale winner Al Castillo for two runs in the first, but then flailed away in vain at three Knight grounders in the third — the errors led to seven unearned runs.

Art Morales climaxed the rally with a bases-loaded single to right, although Hillsdale didn't stop there. Scott Scharlan led the pounding of three Mustang pitchers with three hits, including a two-run homer in the sixth.

Castillo picked up his third league win with his third complete game. He struck out nine and walked three.

Burlingame took a 3-1 lead in the second on three unearned runs, but starting with Erol Churin's bases-loaded single in the fourth, nobody had any doubts about the next six.

Paul Kolesnikow's monstrous triple, Gene Batter's run-scoring fielder's choice, another long triple by Tom Frederico, and John Tulich's single wrapped up things in the fourth.

Sehomore lefty Mike McCallion went the distance for the win, and was especially impressive in the middle innings after a shaky start. He struck out ten and walked just two.

Steve Callan, Crestmoor's winning pitcher, led off the bottom of the seventh with a single. Jeff Hamton sacrificed pinch-runner Steve Maxoutoulis to second, a grounder sent him to third, and Ken Newack's solid single to center scored him with the win.

Callan gave up a wind-blown homer to Dave Quieli in the second, and let in the tying run himself in the sixth with a wild pitch. Pat Brennan, although striking out nobody, pitched well in defeat for Mills.

4 Arrested After Holdup In South S.F.

Quick-acting South San Francisco police arrested four persons on charges of armed robbery Sunday as they were allegedly fleeing the scene of a holdup.

Victim of the holdup was the Bonanza Sirloin Pit on Spruce Avenue in South San Francisco. Two men entered the busy restaurant at 8:30 p.m. One held a knife to the cashier's stomach. The other held an automatic pistol to his stomach, threw a white cloth bag atop the cash register and ordered the cashier "Now fill it!"

The pistol-wielding bandit ordered the cashier to look down and not to make a move, or he would kill him. Taking the cash, the bandit told the cashier that he would shoot if followed. The duo then fled the scene in a car.

Police Sgt. Joe Simpson and Lt. Dave Casey stopped the fleeing car on Bayshore Freeway just north of the Brisbane overpass. A man and woman seemed to be alone in the front seat. However, two other men were found lying in the back seat out of sight.

Ordering the occupants out of the car, police found an automatic handgun on the rear floorboard, and a pocket knife on one of the passengers.

Charged with armed robbery were David Fran Ortiz, 33, 607 Orange Ave., Daly City; Richard Eddie Ramirez — also known as Donald Garcia — 31, 2103 Castro St., San Francisco; Patrick Valentine O'Keefe, 18,

Millbrae Law

Smoking Banned in Public Buildings

Smoking in public buildings in Millbrae during public meetings will be against the law, according to an ordinance adopted last night by the Millbrae City Council.

The law becomes effective in 30 days, and is said to be the first such rule in California. It was passed by a 4-1 vote, with Mayor Bernard Esser casting the "no" ballot.

Esser is frequently a chain smoker, while the other four councilmen are non-smokers.

As read by Mayor Esser, the law makes it a misdemeanor to smoke in any room of a publicly owned building while that room is being used for a meeting to which the general public is invited, while 10 or more people are present, or if anyone complains.

Police Lt. Frank Paglia privately expressed concern with how the law is to be enforced.

City Attorney Frank Gillio, who last night was notably not smoking his usual cigar, said the practice should be for any smoker to be asked to stop, or to leave to meet.

Should the smoker refuse, said Gillio, the leader of the public meeting should direct the sergeant-at-arms to get the person's name and address so a complaint could be filed and a warrant issued from a court.

Being a misdemeanor, said Gillio, violation of the ordinance would carry a fine of up to $500.

The meeting saw a marked decrease in the amount of smoke usually seen in a Millbrae Council session. Esser continued to smoke cigars, but at a slower pace than normal. Gillio took several jibes about his "big black cigars," but did not smoke any.

In the audience, only one or two people lit up smokes during the 2½-hour meeting.

Before adopting the ordinance, councilmen talked about various aspects of the law, and the four non-smokers decided to be firm in enforcement of the rule.

Councilman Barney Spera, who initiated the ordinance, said:

"My original proposal was for no smoking in any public building. I had to come down from that, but if you want to get tough, I'll get tough."

In essence they decided, any recreation class sponsored by the city is a public meeting, and smoking will be prohibited, if there are more than ten people or if anyone objects.

"Certainly the people attending these classes should be able to enjoy them without endangering their health," said Spera.

A public meeting room used for a private meeting, such as a wedding reception, or an employees' meeting, would not come under the law, they said.

Spera also suggested posting "No Smoking" signs in public meeting rooms, and even removing the ashtrays mounted on the backs of public seating in the council chambers.

That, insisted City Administrator Watson and Mayor Esser would be going too far.

Wives Hold Session

The Lawyers' Wives of San Mateo County held a training session for court tour guides at the Northern Judicial Court house in South San Francisco. Presiding Judge Charles Becker spoke on the role of the public as to just what does take place in a courtroom and which procedures implement various civil rights stated in the Bill of Rights of the Constitution.

The court tours are part of a special project in which member chapters of Lawyers' Wives throughout California have participated. In addition to the tours, which are being offered to sixth- and seventh-graders, the local group has prepared pertinent material which is made available to those teachers who wish their classes to do preparatory work prior to the tour.

Also present were representatives from the probation department, the district attorney's office and the Barristers' Club. Mrs. Thomas Caldwell, tour committee chairman, said, "We feel that an acquaintance with the entire law enforcement process will in itself create a respect for the law enforcement agencies as a whole. There seems to be a great lack of knowledge on the part of the public as to just what does take place in a courtroom and which procedures implement various civil rights stated in the Bill of Rights of the Constitution."

FC School Needs Discussed

The trustees of the San Mateo City School District dipped their toes into the murky waters of the Foster City education question Tuesday night for the first official time and the results were illuminating.

The board had set up its regular meeting as the first in a series of five gatherings at the district's middle schools to sound out the public on feelings and opinions about the district's future construction needs.

The major portion in a $6.4 million building package outlined by District Superintendent

Dr. David Thomas is improvements for sites and schools in Foster City. More than half of that $6.4 million figure is involved with Foster City projects.

In opening the whole question up to public inquiry, the trustees are hoping to get some notion as to the feasibility of placing some or all of the superintendent's eight construction proposals on the ballot sometime this coming fall for voter approval.

Meeting at the Abbott Middle School multi-purpose room, the trustees learned that, as expected, there will be resistance to any attempt to close schools in San Mateo while new ones are being built in Foster City, even though the student population from Foster City is growing quickly while that of San Mateo is declining.

One of the first worries expressed involved the rumored closing of Beresford Park School.

Thomas denied that the school would be closed within the next three years.

The trustees had some difficulty inspiring the audience of some 200 people to respond to the building proposals.

So, in order to get some indication of how the citizens felt about the plan, they conducted several straw votes.

On the question "How many in the audience support the proposed improvements at this school (Abbott)" about three-fourths of the people raised their hands.

On the question "How many people here would vote for improvements for schools in Foster City" only an estimated one quarter of the people raised their hands.

On the question "How many people would actually go out and campaign to get a financing plan approved by the voters on the entire package" only 15 persons raised their hands.

After watching the display of hands each time and after considering the magnitude and the timing of what they are thinking about asking the citizens to do, the trustees noted that it is vital to determine how many of the eight proposals should be included in the plan to be placed before the public in the fall, which ones have priority, which ones have the best chance of being accepted by the taxpayers and how to finance the eventual package.

Trustee Ruth Nagler predicted that, "This district will have a devil of a time convincing the community that it needs this whole plan."

President William Kenney agreed. "It's going to be hard to get support for the entire thing," he said.

Thomas, however, believes that most of the package, if not all of it, is vital, especially the $3.5 million for projects for children in Foster City.

He said that the issue is quality education for all children in the district, including those in Foster City.

As of now, there are temporary buildings on the site of Foster City Elementary School. To replace them with a permanent facility would cost the district about $1.6 million.

Thomas said the temporary buildings are inadequate and will require extensive maintenance soon.

Besides that project, Thomas has also recommended that the district construct a new elementary school in Foster City at a cost of about $1.9 million.

The district currently buses hundreds of children out of Foster City each day to schools in San Mateo.

The cost of busing those students is about $55,000 per year, Thomas said. On a lease-purchase arrangement, the district could build a permanent school for those youngsters for about $104,000 per year, he said. He added that the district could afford the $49,000 difference it would have to come up with.

The trustees have scheduled four more meetings which will feature public inquiries into these questions. The next one is set for April 24 at Bayside Middle School in San Mateo.

In other matters, the trustees heard a report from Thomas as on his proposals to alter the direction of the Human Relations Department program in the district. He explained he is setting up a special committee to study possible new thrusts for the department as the district moves closer to integration after its successful desegregation effort of the last several years.

Thomas calls this newest move "Phase III." He said he cannot foresee cutting back the department's staff because of the new emphasis.

Heard a complaint from Mrs. Lucy Pickens who told the board members that Chester Metters, a former administrator at the Lawrence Childhood Center, should be rehired. Metters was fired last month, reportedly for incompetence. Mrs. Pickens said Metters, a black man, should be retained because he is allegedly a model for black children in the community. She added that she feels that Metters was fired, in part, because of his color. Thomas denied the charges and said Metters' color had nothing to do with his firing.

—Voted, 5-0, to present a recommendation by the superintendent to shorten the lunch period in the district by 15 minutes to the Certificated Employees Council for consideration through the meet and confer process.

Homemade Mayonnaise: Unexpected Treat

By JULIA CHILD
The French Chef

Home-made mayonnaise, your own brand, with its wonderful taste of fresh eggs, fresh lemon, and the best oil is such an unexpected pleasure to those who have forgotten what mayonnaise should taste like — and such a revelation to those who have never tasted it before — that you find yourself thinking up every kind of excuse to use it. Savoring it on your tongue, your thoughts will turn to mayonnaise and great lobster and crab salads, or mayonnaise enrobing every carefully cut morsel for an especially beautiful chicken salad.

Here is a basic recipe for the salad, one you can use for fish as well as fowl, along with an unusual manner of presenting it, and the foolproof way to make your own mayonnaise.

A handsomely decorated salad, such as this one, can be the center of attraction on a buffet table, or the main course for a luncheon or supper. In this case you need only serve with it something simple like a platter of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, French bread, and a chilled white wine, such as a dry Graves (if you can find one), Chablis, Pouilly Fuisse, Pinot Blanc, or Riesling.

MAYONNAISE DE VOLAILLE

Chicken Salad — For about 1 quart of chicken meat — 10 to 12 servings.

About 1 quart diced cooked chicken meat and a dozen or more thin slices of chicken.
2 to 3 cups diced celery stalks (1/2-inch pieces)
1/2 cup finely minced scallions
1/4 cup (lightly pressed down) fresh chopped parsley
Salt, and freshly ground pepper
Fresh lemon juice (1/2 to 1 lemon)

4 or more Tb. olive oil or salad oil
Optional: 1/2 to 1 cup walnut meats
2 or more cups home-made mayonnaise (see end of recipe)

A platter lined with lettuce leaves, or a chiffonade (very thin strips) of romaine, or watercress
Decorative suggestions: 1/2 cup each of chopped black olives, chopped parsley, and sieved hard-boiled eggs
Strips of canned red pimiento

Preliminary Seasonings. Keep diced chicken and sliced chicken separately. Fold the celery, all but a half tablespoon of the scallions and parsley, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, and several grinds of pepper into the diced chicken; toss with a tablespoon of lemon juice and 2 to 3 of oil. Correct seasoning, cover, and let steep for 20 to 30 minutes at least (or longer in the refrigerator). Season the sliced chicken in the same manner; cover and refrigerate.

Assembling the Salad. When you are ready to assemble, drain all accumulated juices out of diced chicken. Fold in the optional walnuts, and 1/4 cup or so of the mayonnaise just enough to enrobe the chicken and other ingredients. Taste, and correct seasoning. Toss greenery on platter with a sprinkling of salt and pepper, and mound the salad attractively upon it. Arrange the slices of chicken over the mound, and mask with a coating of mayonnaise.

Decoration. An attractive decoration is a multicolored top—pie-shaped segments of black alternating with, for instance, green and yellow, each segment separated by a line of red pimiento. To keep the segments neat, provide yourself with several foot-long strips of wax paper; fold them in two lengthwise to make a V-shape. If you are making 6 segments, as an example, 2 of each color, set the V-shape with its point at the center of the salad mound to mark the limits of 1 pie-shaped segment. Sprinkle inside the V-area with half the chopped olives; reverse the V-shape in the opposite direction, and fill in the corresponding segment. Continue with the other colors, then outline each segment with red pimiento. Decorate center of mound with a curl of pimiento, a cherry tomato, or whatever appeals to your sense of color and symmetry. (If you are not serving shortly, cover salad with an upside-down bowl, and refrigerate.) Accompany the salad, if you wish, with a bowl of additional mayonnaise.

MAYONNAISE

For about 2 1/4 cups
3 egg yolks in a 2-to 2 1/2-quart mixing bowl
An electric beater
1/4 tsp dry mustard
1/2 tsp salt

Either fresh lemon juice or wine vinegar, or a combination of each
2 cups best quality oil—salad oil, olive oil, or a combination of the 2
Salt and white pepper

If mixing bowl is lightweight, set on a wet pot holder to keep it steady. Beat the egg yolks for 2 to 3 minutes, until pale, thick, and the texture of mayonnaise. Add the mustard, salt, and a teaspoon each of lemon juice and vinegar (or 2 of either one); beat for another minute. Then, by half-teaspoon dribbles, begin beating in the oil and do not stop beating until about 1/2 cup has gone in, and the sauce has thickened into a heavy mayonnaise—as soon as this initial emulsion has occurred, you may stop beating if you wish. Then begin adding the oil by tablespoon dollops, being sure to beat several seconds after each addition so that sauce will absorb the oil.

When sauce becomes too thick and heavy for easy beating, thin out with droplets of lemon juice or vinegar, and continue with the rest of the oil. Taste for seasoning, beating in more salt, lemon juice or vinegar, and pepper as you feel necessary. Turn sauce into a smaller bowl or a jar, and cover airtight to prevent a skin forming over its surface. Refrigerate, if sauce is not to be used promptly. Mayonnaise will keep five to six days under refrigeration, but let come to room temperature before stirring up, or the chilled egg yolks may release the oil from its emulsion.

NOTES: If you always beat the egg yolks to thicken them before you begin to add the oil, if you always add the oil very slowly at first until the sauce thickens and the emulsion process is established, and finally, if you never exceed the proportions of two cups of oil for three egg yolks, you will never have trouble with mayonnaise. However, if your hand or eyes have failed you, and the sauce turns — meaning it will not thicken, or it thins out, or it curdles — do not despair. Warm a mixing bowl in hot water, drain, and place 1 tablespoon of Dijon-type prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon of the turned sauce in the bowl. Beat for a minute or until they thicken together, then beat in the turned sauce by half-teaspoon dribbles until the emulsion and thickening begin again. Beat in the remainder of the turned sauce by tablespoon dollops.

Three Held For Trial on Robberies

Three young men, arrested after a high-speed car chase through the North County March 26, must appear in Superior Court April 24 to face charges of armed robberies in Pacifica and South San Francisco.

Held to answer by Municipal Court Judge Charles Becker were Michael Grant, 23, San Francisco; Carl Dietrich, 26, Petaluma, and Gilbert Gomez, 17, Hollywood.

Gomez had first been remanded to Hillcrest Juvenile Hall, but was then held unfit for juvenile court and is now being tried as an adult.

Bail of $150,000 was set for Grant, $100,000 for Dietrich and $50,000 for Gomez. They are all in County Jail in Redwood City.

Grant and Gomez are charged with holding up the 7-Eleven Store on Skyline Boulevard in Pacifica. Grant and Dietrich are being charged with robbing a clerk at the D&M Liquors at 429 Grand Avenue in South San Francisco. The trio has pleaded not guilty to all charges.

Peninsula Warehouse Razed in Fire, 1 Hurt

of the Hewlett-Packard Company on Lambert Street near El Camino Real in Palo Alto shortly after dawn this morning. A roaring fire which sent an atomic-bomb mushroom-shaped ball of flame hundreds of feet into the air destroyed an almost half-block-long metal warehouse and third alarms and put a mutual aid plan into effect calling for fire equipment from the Stanford University, Los Altos and Mountain View Fire Departments.

ments to either standby or in assisting in fighting the fire.

One security guard, Robert Booth, 21, of Mountain View, was taken to Stanford Hospital when part of the building collapsed on him and injured his shoulder. He also suffered from smoke inhalation, but was not hospitalized.

The fire spread to a small office shed 500 to 600 yards away and destroyed it.

In addition to 18 firemen on duty, ten off-duty firemen were called in to fight the fire. Several off-duty Menlo Park and Stanford firemen who were passing by joined in to bring the fire under control within a short time.

Assistant Fire Chief James McLaughlin reported that the firement were expected to be at the scene most of the day putting out the fire completely as the building was filled with cardboard boxes used by the company.

Menlo Park Police Sgt. Robert Harrah reported that the flames were clearly visible from his station. Woodside firemen a Portola Valley five miles away could see flames, as could residents in the East Bay and throughout the southern part of the Peninsula.

The Santa Clara County fire marshal was summoned to the fire.

In the first battle to keep the fire from spreading to other buildings firemen were endangered by dropping hot electrical

Education Workshop Slated

High school educators, students, parents and other interested persons are being invited to a weekend workshop April 27-29 at College of San Mateo on enriching the educational experience of adolescents in San Mateo County.

The event, scheduled to open late Friday afternoon and adjourn at noon Sunday, is co-sponsored by the college's Psychological Services Center and the Educational Innovation Project of the Center for Studies of the Person in La Jolla.

The two groups last year conducted a national conference on the same topic.

"Now we want to focus exclusively on our own county," said Charles Devonshire, CSM director of psychological services. "This will mark the first time the college and high schools in the area have been involved in such a cooperative venture, and we're hoping for some really significant benefits."

So far, he added, seven high schools have indicated they will be represented at the workshop.

Participating institutions are being encouraged to send teams of eight to 10 persons, composed of students, counselors, teachers, administrators and parents, to provide more fully for post-workshop follow-up action at the schools.

"Being part of a team is not necessary in order to register, however," Devonshire emphasized. "We also want individuals to contribute, including people like mental health workers and

CATCHING UP ON MISCELLANY: Boxing — Over heard at the recent 40th anniversary bash of the Jackie Fields vs Young Corbett welterweight championship fight (won by Corbett at old Seals Stadium):

(Mrs. Jack Downey, wife of the famous local referee) "These old-time boxers, you know, still believe in chivalry. Still think of a woman as a lady. . . why, I could come to one of these affairs without Jack and never get propositioned and have my seat held and be escorted to my car. . ."

(Billy Mahoney, an ex-fighter, manager, promoter, stage and screen actor out of Fresno, who makes a hobby of promoting such affairs for boxers and baseball players and rarely gets enough credit for it) "Some of these guys drive me nuts. I started writing to these guys about this affair two months ago. I wrote some of them five times, no answer. Then they start calling me this afternoon, asking if I have any tickets left."

"Now, the chef is asking me, how many roast beefs? Hell, I don't even know how many men, yet, and dinner's going to be served in 20 minutes. Even some of the guys coming don't know if they're coming!"

Later on, during the course of the dinner, Mahoney WAS honored — a surprise to him — for his selfless work in the benefits he has produced for old-timers. He clasped a plaque over his head in the standard fighter's victory sign and shouted to the audience which had just given him a standing ovation. "People ask me why I got to all the trouble for these affairs," and then he pointed to the plaque, and made a sweeping gesture with his arm around the room of happy old-timers, and continued, "This is why, this is what makes it all worthwhile!"

And at the even still more recent Mission High Athletic Alumni dinner, we met and conversed with the hottest local fighter in years, Ray Lunny, Jr., who along with his ex-fighter father, was the honored guest of the evening.

Not only is Lunny Jr. a throwback to the old-timers in the ring (long-time observers tell us that they haven't seen a young fighter for years who can so expertly do things like draw leads and slip punches), but he's a throwback to the old-time attitude, when fighters were polite, gracious and modest. The kid is an honest stereotype — looks and talks like a choir boy. The fact that he doesn't have a mark on his face does not, however, mean he avoids combat. He's proven he will mix it when he must, can hit when he has to; the unblemished face is simply a tribute to his mentor-father, who has taught him the CRAFT of boxing, proof that boxing, properly taught and well learned, can, indeed, be the art of self defense.

BASKETBALL—If Bill Walton played for a coach who believes in running up scores and promoting his stars for All American selection by allowing them to pour it on in any situation, he would probably be averaging 50-60 points and perhaps 30 rebounds per game. John Wooden, however, believes only in winning, not exploiting, so Walton often plays only half a game . . . and still makes All American — and everything else!

If anybody would have asked our opinion as to how to induce Laker and Buck players to play that extra playoff game to determine the western championship, we would have told them to offer the players a cut of the gate. That way, the players would have made extra money, the owners would have made extra money, and the west would have had a more legitimate champ. Not to mention the fact that the Warriors might have had, in Los Angeles, an easier (for them) first round playoff opponent.

If any of you are disappointed in Rick Barry, keep in mind that, since the last time you saw him at the NBA's leading scorer, he's several years older and has had two knee operations. Add the facts that he really missed "spring" training and that the new foul rule discourages him from going to the basket as often as he used to, and you might find it in your heart to forgive him for being a better all around player than he was, but not nearly as sensational.

One other, more subtle factor may be involved. Barry played against such generally inferior competition in the ABA that, in probably seldom really being extended, he may now, subconsciously, be letting down a little. It may take this first year back to make him realize that he must put out just a little bit more against NBA competition than he had to in the "other league."

A question of the Warriors. Is Franklin Mieli so broke that he can't afford an assistant coach? We think it's ridiculous that in big league basketball if a coach is ill or thrown out of a game, the players must assume the responsibility of coaching.

BASEBALL—We have been asked why we never got in on the Yankee wife swapping controversy. We wouldn't have touched that one with a 110 foot poll. Knowing ourselves well, such a discussion would have diminished to the level of a lot of bad, tasteless jokes. Unlike New York sports writers, we try to write sports, not fodder for confidential Magazine-type mentalities.

Whether Vida Blue is right or wrong, we get tired of his supporters using the equally tired excuse that he was ruined because he was a young kid under tremendous pressure because of publicity.

Nobody was under more pressure of publicity than Bob Feller, for one example, who was only 17 years of age when he struck out 17 Philadelphia Athletics. Feller got better with the pressure, not worse.

And then there was Mel Ott (16 when he broke in), Al Kaline (17 when he broke in), Moe when he won the American League batting title), Mickey Mantle (19), Willie Mays (19), Henry Aaron (20), and a host of others, all of whom managed to psychologically adjust to the pressure of publicity. The really great ones always do.

As this is written Ed Goodson has not definitely won or lost the third base, or any other job. But whatever the outcome, we will never forget his sheer gall in demanding to be traded if he didn't make the starting lineup.

What after all, are his credentials? A beautiful swing? You can stick that in your ear if it doesn't produce. Mays had a lousy swing, but he hit over 300 10 times. All Goodson has proven is that he can hit .280 in fewer than 100 National League games. Add a recent knee operation, and Goodson should be thankful if he makes the roster. Anything beyond that should be looked upon by the young man as frosting.

PERHAPS THERE'S more to it than is making the public pronouncements, but on the surface, we don't see how Charlie Fox can afford to leave Dave Kingman out of the lineup. We don't care how many times he strikes out. He still led the major leagues' leading homerun hitting team in homers last year, drove in more than 80 runs and stole almost 20 bases, all despite many missed games because of a nagging ankle injury. Had Kingman been able to play a full schedule, he would have had a good chance of hitting more than 30 homers and stealing more than 30 bases in one season: A VERY RARE FEAT. Are the Giants really "loaded" enough to keep those statistics out of the lineup?

Adams, Granna and Parker in J.E.S.D.

The April 17 election for three board of trustees positions in the Jefferson Elementary School District is likely to be one of the most hotly contested school elections in San Mateo County.

The district has been in the news almost constantly because of troubles ranging from a teachers' strike and parent boycott, threats of recall, asserted violation of the Brown Act, personnel difficulties, and other squabbles going all the way down to alleged irregularities in handling petty cash and the dilapidation of plumbing in the children's restrooms.

In brief, it has not been a happy district for anyone, including the trustees, the administration, the teachers, and many of the parents. It is not likely that the present composition of the board of trustees, violently split on a three to two basis, has much chance of restoring harmony to the district.

The situation is one which calls for a change.

It is in this belief that The Post offers the following recommendations to its readers:

The re-election of two of the incumbent board members, Dorothy D. Adams and James Ward Cranna; and the election of a new candidate for the board, David M. Parker.

Dorothy Adams was elected to the board in 1969. She is one of the two voting minority members and has been a strong trustee despite this handicap. She believes in the mediation of differences but has been thwarted in her attempts to implement that policy.

James Ward Cranna is a comparatively new member of the board elected at a special election in April, 1972. He is one of the three majority members of the board but has shown ability to think for himself and, hopefully, would go along with efforts to correct the present disharmony that prevails.

David M. Parker, long active in community work, has consistently attended board meetings and is exceptionally well informed on the problems of the district. He has been critical of the present conduct of the schools and is running for the express intent of ending the turmoil and bickering in the district.

He is employed by the telephone company and has a good educational background.

No matter who is elected, the members of this board will be heir to problems of both policy and administration that must be solved in the interests of the district's pupils, parents and taxpayers.

The Post believes that voting for Dorothy D. Adams, James Ward Cranna, and David M. Parker is the best way to solve the problems and restore respect for the district.

Boragno, Poppers, Garay For Millbrae Trustees

Three trustees positions on the Millbrae Elementary School District Board are to be filled at the upcoming school elections. Two incumbents, the veteran Remo Boragno, and Dr. Gerald M. Poppers, are asking to be returned to office. The third post, if the incumbents are re-elected, has drawn a field of five candidates.

The school district is in excellent condition with a good tax base and a much admired educational program among the most advanced in San Mateo County. Under such circumstances the re-election of the incumbents automatically recommends itself to thoughtful voters.

Trustee Remo Boragno has served the district for 19 years and has been president and clerk of the board several times. His sustained interest in the schools has continued from the time when his children attended them and now carries through to a new generation. He is also well known as a former president of the Millbrae Chamber of Commerce and for many other civic activities.

Doctor Gerald M. Poppers was first elected at a special election a year ago.

He has lived in Millbrae for 11 years and has been active in Parent-Teacher groups and scouting. During his initial year on the board he has made extra efforts to meet with parents and citizens and learn their concerns. He has visited all of the schools and personally conferred with all the principals and many of the teachers. His work as a trustee has been exemplary.

The Post recommends the re-election of these two incumbents and, for the third post on the board, recommends the election of Robert A. (Bob) Garay, long a Millbrae resident with a special interest in the district schools, their faculties, and their students including his two sons, one of whom has become a teacher. Garay has a musical background, but is employed by the Defense Contracts Administration. He is a well and widely known resident of Millbrae whose concern for the schools has culminated in his candidacy for the district board.

Re-elect incumbents Remo Boragno and Dr. Gerald M. Poppers, and elect Robert A. Garay to the board of the Millbrae Elementary School District.

Incumbents in Jefferson High School District

The Jefferson Union High School District, which includes Daly City and Pacifica, is one of San Mateo County's larger educational subdivisions and requires trustees of high qualification and experience. Like other school districts it faces a period of uncertainty in the near future until full determinations of the impact of property tax limitations under Senate Bill 90 and clarification of the law under the Serrano vs. Priest decision.

Fortunately for voters of the district, three incumbent trustees who have already successfully dealt with fiscal uncertainties are standing for re-election at the Tuesday, April 17 school elections.

To these voters, The Post recommends that all three incumbents be returned to office. They are:

Edward Solomon, an attorney with business, finance and educational background. He came to the board in 1966 and has seen the district through its most crucial expansion years. He is a strong advocate of his belief that the state must contribute funds on an equal basis with local taxation.

Jane Powell, nationally known for her outstanding work with foster children, active in many civic and charitable endeavors, and a long-time member of the board with experience in school funding problems. She too favors state participation in school costs on an equal basis.

And, John H. Sloane, himself an educator and the director of the International Relations Center at California State University in San Francisco. He was elected to the district board in 1970 after the resignation of veteran trustee Elio Fontana. In addition to his educational career, Sloane has seven years of business management background that has been advantageous to the board in fiscal matters.

These three incumbents, along with holdover members of the Jefferson High School board, have worked to very successfully meet the district's financial and other problems. They are manifestly the best candidates to succeed themselves.

Voters of the district will do well to re-elect John H. Sloane, Jane Powell, and Edward Solomon.

San Bruno Incumbents

Three incumbent trustees of the San Bruno Park Elementary School District are candidates for re-election at the Tuesday, April 17, school election. One other candidate has filed to contest the three governing board posts open on the ballot.

The incumbents are Christo M. Pallas, a businessman; Leonard Sarkon, a Millbrae school principal; and David E. Paterson, a chemist and long-time member of the board. They have helped to guide their district through a period of expansion and growth, and they have fully shown their ability to cope with such problems as have faced the board.

San Bruno's schools are in excellent condition and enjoy a good reputation, the best evidence that an effective board of trustees has been performing well and conscientiously.

The Post recommends to its readers in the San Bruno Park Elementary District that they return the incumbent trustees, David E. Paterson, Christo M. Pallas, and Leonard Sarkon to the offices they now hold.

James Halley Reports

The tax initiative of 1973 is now under way. Petitions have been printed, and the first signatures secured. The coming battle over its adoption will be waged on several levels.

First comes the matter of signatures. More than 520,000 are needed, and must be secured on or before June 7. Completed petitions must be presented in Sacramento before June 17. An effective organization has been established to do this, and has set a goal of 800,000 signatures. Although time is short the objective seems within easy reach.

During this initial period the legislature will hold hearings on the measure. These hearings are not a prerequisite to the initiative procedure, but will be held for the purpose of informing the legislature so it can decide if it wants to place the matter on the ballot of its own motion.

AS A majority of the members of the legislature have already made it plain that they oppose tax limitation, the hearings will not serve this avowed purpose. They will, nonetheless, educate the public, and provide opportunity for line by line examination of the text of the proposed amendment. Opponents and proponents will use this forum as an early testing ground for later campaigning.

Assuming qualification, the election will be held on November 6. In even numbered years, the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November is the usual time for Californians to cast ballots. In 1973, however, excepting only such local elections as may be held that day, the tax initiative and any other qualified ballot propositions would occupy the field alone. It should be noted that as of this time the chances of any other measure securing sufficient signatures in time are minimal.

This will result in extraordinary attention being devoted to this single issue. California, whose politics are "hot" in any statewide election, will focus laser-like heat on the only issue being debated.

SOME features of the coming dialogue can be predicted. One argument that will endure is the claim that the tax initiative will reduce the power of the Legislature. There is some truth in this, but not in the sweeping sense claimed by those opposing the measure.

The limitation will act as a ceiling on taxes and expenditures. Within that ceiling, however, the usual way of government will apply. The Legislature will be prohibited from imposing taxes that will produce revenues in excess of the stated limit, but within the ceiling may set rates and decide how total state revenues will be divided between the various taxes and fees that provide state income.

Legislative power over expenditures will remain the same except that there will be a limitation on the total monies that can be appropriated each year. It should be noted that presently a constitutional limitation on state indebtedness exists. Unlike the federal government the State of California cannot run annual deficits.

So those complaining about the loss of legislative prerogative should be understood as favoring the right of government to expand as it has in the past. It should also be perceived that the initiative, if passed, will limit the executive as well as the Legislature.

What will be the result of this "straight jacket" that we hear so much of? The result will be that the Legislature in proposing and adopting programs will have to balance, compare, and select those expenditures it deems wise. If confronted with desired programs, the cost of which exceeds allowable limits, it will have to prune back or eliminate those it finds desirable. It might, under such circumstances, even find the public interest best served by foregoing one of the periodic pay raises of its own members.

This straight jacket is not too unlike the one that you and I wear each day of our lives. Wanting a trip, a new car, and a television set, we compromise for one or none.

Frank LaPierre

A Gut Clutch

WE'LL MAKE THIS SHORT and sweet — There is a "Dear Friend" letter being circulated by a group of Daly Cityites supporting candidates for the Jefferson Elementary School District and also the Jeff High School District. While we do not necessarily agree with their choice of JESD candidates, we figure that's their business. But we have to clutch our gut when we read in the body of the letter that this group of people are "NOT TO BE A PART OF THE DALY CITY POLITICAL STRUCTURE."

WHO'S KIDDING WHOM? The members of the Executive Committee of the "Friends of Daly City-Colma Schools" reads like a list of would-be and-or has been politicians. Matter of fact many of the names are on the tips of everyone's tongue at City Hall — showing the too-close relationship between our city and the school board. It all smacks of machine politics to this writer.

THE NAMES INCLUDE former councilman Edward Dennis, who has been active in every campaign for the past two decades. Some of his campaigns were those of Bob St. Clair, Carl Britschgi, Louis Papan, Leo Ryan, etc., etc. Another, James Grealish, active in the unsuccessful campaigns of Shirley Temple Black, Jack Murray for supervisor, etc., etc.

And former city treasurer and former JESD trustee Joseph Lewkowitz, ditto. Four others on the list of 12 members were all appointed to the Daly City Redevelopment Agency citizens advisory committee by CITY HALL. One man, Ralph Hall, was appointed by the city council to head the committee.

ONE THING YOU can be certain of. If David Parker is elected to the JESD on April 17 (and we hope he is) those telephone credit cards and freewheeling luncheons are O-U-T.

SOME FOLKS are running for the JESD on a platform to bring harmony to the board of trustees which is now split on some issues 3-2. Frankly we cast our (absentee) ballot for the three persons we think will spend our tax dollars wisely — not for a choral group.

THERE HAVE BEEN claims and counter claims about that audit report of the JESD (the one we predicted long ago would be held up in Sacramento for one reason or another) and we want to say right here and now THERE IS NO REPORT AS YET.

ON ANOTHER RACE — For county school board, previously filled by a North County newsmen who did a FANTASTIC job as a trustee (ask anyone), Elio Fontana is pitted against perennial runner Maury Tolson. Tolson has run for everything from city treasurer of Daly City, council, school trustee and now county school board. Fontana was a longtime school trustee (and a good one) for the JUHSD in Daly City.

BE ASSURED THAT just because C. Arnholt Smith, chairman of the Board of San Diego-based Yellow Cab Company, was a substantial contributor ($250 each) to councilmen Paul Hupf and Tony Giammona it will NOT affect their votes on that requested cab rate increase, both have said.

No Insults

I didn't mean to insult Frank O'Brien by asking him if he was really a singer but the high, almost falsetto voice he uses as Thurio who is betrothed to Silvia in "Two Gentlemen of Verona" is a rare sound. If it wasn't trained to produce that strong a near soprano, I suppose he'd be in the hospital by now.

The unusual voice so highly placed is one of the many delights blaring forth from the Curran Theatre stage these nights in the Civic Light Opera production via Joseph Papp's New York Shakespeare Festival production. And no one expends more energy in the comedy-singing role than the 28-year-old former army officer from New York.

"I was afraid I'd never make it to Broadway. I'd always been funny but couldn't emotionally handle anything but playing lead roles. That kept me out of a lot of shows."

"I'd attended Georgetown University with John Guare who wrote 'House of Blue Leaves,' and because of our long friendship, he gave me two good breaks. We had faith in each other."

"He cast me in the school musical, 'The Thirties Girl' as Jezebel Jasmine, the lead role. Years later, two of the songs from that show turned up in 'Blue Leaves.' And then he went on to Yale University and I went into the army."

"I started studying singing when I was in the army, paying for it with my salary, and by selling some stock. Every day for two years I paid $15 a lesson to a teacher who was training me to be a baritone."

"The result was bowed chords that gave my voice a wobble and a perpetual sore throat. It felt like nails lodged in my larynx. Then my teacher got deathly ill and I changed to Carolina Seagrera who informed me right off that I was a natural Irish tenor. I can now sing F above high C and for this role, add a nasal sound to make him kooky."

"As my voice improved, I gained confidence and started doing television commercials and saved my money by living at home. I toured with Shirley Booth in 'The Torchbearers' and appeared with Audrey Hepburn in the film 'Wait Until Dark.' I even started dancing lessons."

His old friend Guare wrote an audition piece for him titled, "The Loveliest Afternoon of 1961" which has been published in a collection of his plays. They had a falling out over Guare's anti-war plays but renewed their feelings after O'Brien found a great source of comfort in studying with the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, celebrated guru of the Beatles.

Guare, having written the lyrics to "Two Gentlemen of Verona" with music by Galt MacDermot who composed the musical hit, "Hair," suggested that O'Brien audition. He was cast immediately.

If you were unlucky enough to have missed hearing O'Brien in the role, he's reason enough to see the show a second time. His mother died shortly after the show opening in San Francisco and he went east for four days. She'd reared three boys as a widow and supported the youngest son through those tough years it took to get his first big break.

"She saw me do it in Central Park and again on Broadway. That made her very happy."

CSM Griddler Sues Coaches

A $100,000 lawsuit was filed Friday against two College of San Mateo football coaches by one of their former players who blames them with negligence in connection with a shoulder injury he sustained.

Former San Mateo High School football star Kevin J. O'Donnell filed the suit in San Mateo County Superior Court. O'Donnell was a star running back in his senior year at San Mateo High School in 1970.

O'Donnell's suit alleges that College of San Mateo coaches Steve Shafer and Ted Tollner ordered him to run at and hit a football bag-sled at full speed without any pads or protective devices on April 6, 1972.

When O'Donnell followed his coach's orders, he alleges he suffered permanent disablement of his right shoulder. Twenty-year-old O'Donnell seeks an undetermined amount of "specific damages" in the suit for alleged loss of employment because of his shoulder injury.

O'Donnell was named to the Mid-Peninsula League All-Star Team after his senior year at San Mateo High. After graduating from high school he attended the College of San Mateo where he was a reserve half-back for Tollner and Shafer's championship team.

Mike Mullery Says . . . President

FIRST OF ALL . . . I want to Thank the People on the Peninsula for Making Our First Year in Business Such a Success. It is a Real Pleasure to Work and Live on the Peninsula After Many Years in the Midwest.

The automobile business kind of runs in the family with me. My father was an automobile dealer and my brother is a dealer near Chicago, where I started in the business.

We've learned most of the ins and outs of running a car dealership, but one thing we've learned stands out most importantly. That is: To place people first and cars second, as we go about our daily operations.

After all, if we run low on cars, we can always buy more from the factory. But we can NOT buy customers. Their respect and loyalty must be earned, by the way they are treated.

We know how you like to be treated when you come through our door, because we are all consumers, too, and we know how we like to be treated. Give us a chance to prove that we offer a personal touch in our business.

But shop for service, too. You want to buy your next car from the complete service facilities to back up Lee Oldsmobile American's . . . we have the factory-trained personnel and modern equipment to back up every automobile sale.
